Congress Turns on Hoover

Today

Let Hoover Manage.
Questions for Edison.
A Merger Needed.
Japan's Mighty Growth.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

PATRIOTS IN CONGRESS advertise their generosity by suggesting ways for disposing of public moneys.

Fortunately President Hoover, who has spent efficiently in charity more money than anybody that ever lived, is in the White House, to discourage the would-be squanderers.

Bills already introduced would cost Uncle Sam four billion five hundred million dollars.

WITH "UNEMPLOYMENT" for its excuse the cost would be more than the total cost of government for a year.

Congress should let President Hoover plan appropriations actually necessary and meet emergencies as they occur, supporting him loyally, not as a partisan, but as a public national matter.

NEXT WEEK the Rev. J. K. Shields, head of New Jersey Anti-Saloon League, will put six questions on prohibition to Thomas A. Edison, who is a dry. Mr. Edison says of Dwight W. Morrow:

"Morrow knows nothing of the business and industrial world. He has been cooped up in his office and away from the workingman."

SENATOR MORROW might ask Mr. Edison three questions: First: Has prohibition stopped the drinking of whisky and is whisky worse or better than it was?

Second: Did boys and girls, including high school children, drink whisky before prohibition came as they do now? Third: Has crime increased or diminished under prohibition?

NEWS THAT a so-called "billion dollar merger" of four New York banks has been called off, is more important than appears in the mere announcement.

The importance will develop later unless some kind of an absorbing and protecting merger is accomplished.

IN SPITE of earthquakes, tidal waves, and restricted territory, census returns show that Japan's population is 64,557,000, more than four million increase in five years.

Greater Tokio with a population of 4,968,000 is the world's third city. Including colonies, Japan's population is 90,000,000.

A great, powerful people the Japanese. What would be their number had they been able to spread unrestricted on our Pacific Coast?

GEN. ATTERBURY complains justly of an Interstate Commerce decision forbidding the Pennsylvania Railroad to hold a control in the Lehigh Valley and Wabash Railroads.

At this time especially the government which finds it difficult to help business should at least not interfere with it.

Big industrial and other units are the order of the day and operate more economically.

The country should have one great railroad system operated by the ablest men, as it has one postoffice system and one telephone system.

Since that is impossible, government should not keep railroads chopped up into innumerable, small inefficient blocks.

Gen. Atterbury might ask the Supreme Court to decide the issue.

Railroads are having trouble enough without being subjected to unnecessary interference.

MR. HYDE, secretary of agriculture, says that government lending money to buy human food is "perilously near" the dole.

On the other hand, allowing many people to be hungry might bring you "perilously near" to dangerous rioting or something worse.

The dole is humiliating to those that receive, expensive to taxpayers that provide.

The British, grown wise by watching the mistakes of others, know that the important thing is to keep human beings fed. Then you can manage them.

YOU WILL be told by the ignorant, and those that reject real science in favor of some substitute, that "germs and microbes" are all nonsense, everything being "in the mind."

The authorities of a hospital had no such theory fortunately. Five patients died strangely immediately after operations. Investigation showed that a sterilizing machine employed in the operating room had insufficient steam heat and streptococci and stephlicocci on operating room linen passed through it unharmed and killed the patients with whom they came in contact.

JOIN FIGHT WAGED HERE AGAINST CRIME

Armed With Machine Guns, Tear Gas, Deatils Watch Highways for Bandits

Armed with machine guns, rifles and tear gas, between 20 and 25 state troopers roamed Allegheny County today in squads to combat the recent outbreak of banditry and general lawlessness.

Squads were stationed at half a dozen different points in the county. This morning they were at Tarentum, Duquesne, Wilkinsburg, Washington road and East McKeesport.

PATROL HIGHWAYS

Mounted on horses or driving automobiles, the squads are patroling highways, stopping and checking motor vehicles and keeping in constant touch with Troop A headquarters at Greensburg, which is connected with the state-wide police teletype system.

Capt. Albert Carlson, commandant of Troop A, has sent the troopers into the county to co-operate with municipal police. Each squad is in charge of a non-commissioned officer.

Capt. Carlson said:

"The men, working in alternate shifts, with between 20 and 25 on each shift, will be nearby in the event local authorities wish to call upon them. I sent them to check up and aid wherever they can, outside their routine work. No one requested them."

PARK TO CO-OPERATE

District Attorney Andrew T. Park said he was glad to have the troopers:

"I've instructed the county detectives to co-operate with them, and the bureau has the telephone numbers of the outposts. The troopers are covering the strategic points in the county, and I'm sure will bring good results."

The recent outbreak of lawlessness here with the holdup of Pittsburgh Athletic Association, the Buffum Bottling Works, Allegheny Valley Trust Company at Verona and other daring holdups and robberies, prompted the establishment of armed patrols.

Public Safety Director James M. Clark said he was ready to cooperate in fullest measure with the state police if their activities brought them within the city limits. Help or information that might aid the state authorities will be given promptly, Clark asserted.

2 Die at Crossing As Train Hits Auto

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Dec. 10.—Ike Cameron, 21, and Jesse Mayberry, 22, both of Edenburg, were killed this morning on the Edenburg crossing, when Mayberry's closed car was struck by the Cincinnati-New Castle passenger train of the Pennsylvania Railroad. Dense fog was blamed.

Florida Crops Hit By Freezing Weather

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 10.—(AP.)—Sub-freezing weather and extensive damage to truck crops and fruit groves in the Everglades area of Southern Florida last night were reported to the Mami weather bureau today.

Doran Bans Poison Alcohol —But, Oh, What a Smell!

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—(INS.)—Poison is to be removed from denatured alcohol, it was announced today by Dr. J. M. Doran, former director of prohibition and now chief of the Industrial Alcohol Bureau.

Thus executive action is to accomplish what the House of Representatives voted down only last week—the removal of poisonous denaturants from alcohol.

Doran presented a bottle of alcohol, denatured under the new formula and which had been submitted to all processes used by bootleggers looking to its removal, to a newspaper correspondent to sample.

The correspondent obligingly took a swig. He lived to write the story.

The product has an aroma similar to that of choloroform, benzine, rotten eggs, garlic, and very strong onions, all combined!

The substitute for wood alcohol will be alcotate, chemical element derived from the production of gasoline through the cracking process. Completely denautred alcohol will be treated with one per cent alcotate and one per cent aldehol, also a petroleum product. The new element is contained only in petroleum found in California, Doran said, adding:

"Alcohol denatured by this process is proof against removal of the denaturant by the most drastic bootleg tests. It is harmless if accidentally or purposely taken in the quantities to be found in industrial alcohol. It will ruin the taste of beverages prepared from denatured alcohol, however."

Winging East On Record Flight

MISS RUTH NICHOLS . . . . SHE WENT UP TO 20,000 FEET

RUTH NICHOLS SPEEDS EAST

Miss Nichols hoped to reach Roosevelt Field in a single hop, completing her West-East transcontinental attempt to better the mark established by Mrs. Keith-Miller.

Reaching Wichita from Los Angeles without a stop yesterday, Miss Nichols consumed seven hours and one minute, or nearly an hour more than the singe hop record for the distance, which was established by Capt. Frank Hawks. Her time was six minutes more than the single hop mark for the route of Col. Charles Lindbergh and his wife, Anne.

Aviation experts considered Miss Nichols' time remarkable, since she battled a Rocky Mountain storm which forced her to ascend 20,000 feet.

44 New Cases Put Under Quarantine

The Health Department reported the following cases of contagious diseases today: Scarlet fever 12, measles 2, whooping cough 1, chickenpox 21, pneumonia 5, mumps 2, erysipelas 1.

ASKS FOR MERCY ON RUM PLEA

Drunkenness as a plea for clemency in the killing of a child and injury to four other children, was combatted today by John F. Haggerty, assistant district attorney, in the trial of Frank Kubiszewski, accused of the death of William Harris, 5, of 324 Lawn street when he is alleged to have driven his car into a crowd of children in Lawn street last July.

The defense closed at 10:30 o'clock with the calling of character witnesses.

Frank Nowak, passenger in Kubiszewski's car, was eliminated as a defendant in the murder case when Attorney Little made a motion that the judge direct a verdict of not guilty against him on the ground that no evidence of murder had been shown. Four charges of aggravated assault and battery were at once made by Police Sergt. Samuel Wheeler against Nowak, one for each of the boys injured.

Dr D. F. Sable, police surgeon, who examined the men after the accident, said they were under the influence of liquor, but not helpless. He said Kubiszewski boasted he had driven the car and also that he had made large quantities of moonshine.

AID ASSURED LAKE-RIVER CANAL

House Rivers and Harbors Chairman Cheers Group Of Pittsburgh Advocates

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—Assurance that Congress would carefully study the proposed Lake Erie-Ohio River Canal from Ashtabula, O., to Rochester, via Youngstown, was given a delegation of Pittsburgh civic leaders here today by Representative Dempsey (Rep.), of New York, chairman of the House Rivers and Harbors Committee.

Dempsey spent an hour in discussion with the Pittsburgh industrial leaders, delegates to the National Rivers and Harbors Congress in session here, and told them he was thoroughly in favor of the proposed project.

NEW REPORT SOUGHT

Dempsey asked them to prepare all the available data on the project and declared he would present this to the Rivers and Harbors Committee and propose a resolution asking the Army engineers to make a new report on the project. An army engineer report of the project in 1925 found the work feasible, but uneconomical at that time.

Dempsey declared that the present was a splendid time to carry out such a project as was proposed.

Dempsey suggested that the Pennsylvanians who had planned originally for a 12-foot canal, 198 feet wide, change their plans to embrace a 14-foot deep waterway. He pointed out this would provide for a 3,600-ton load, which is almost standardized in other canals throughout the country.

Under present plans the canal would be 100 miles long. The Pittsburgh group will immediately form a committee charged with the duty of complying with Dempsey's request for data.

CONFER WITH ENGINEERS

The conference with the Rivers and Harbors Committee chairman followed a similar meeting with

Arlen, Film Actor, Burned in 'Gun Fight'

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Dec. 10.—(AP.)—A movie gun battle became a little too realistic and Richard Arlen, cowboy actor, suffered a severe powder burn on his face.

Dr. H. J. Strathern said Arlen would be able to resume work next week. The accident occurred when another actor fired a blank at close range.

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—(INS.)—United States Steel unfilled tonnage as of November 30 showed an increase of 157,873 tons to 3,639,636 tons against 3,481,763 tons on October 31, 3,424,338 on September 30, 3,580,204 on August 31 and 4,125,345 on November 30, 1929, it was announced today.

Dry Agents Seize An Army, Also a Navy, All in Year

By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER

Notre Dame team is going to parade in Chicago. We knew they were good.

But we didn't think they were THAT good.

Dry agents have seized 68,173 people in year. That's an army.

They also grabbed 64 boats. That's the navy.

Pass President's Relief Bill NOW

GENTLEMEN of the Congress of the United States:

Sidetrack the World Court and all foreign foolishness and get back of Mr. Hoover's plan to put men to work.

Do not quibble about the amount of the proposed appropriation or about whether more should go to the farmers or more to the workers.

Pass Mr. Hoover's measure.

If the farmers need more later, Senator Borah give them more,—LATER.

They would like to have the amount of the appropriation now.

Half a loaf is better than no bread.

If the white collar men need a special appropriation later, Senator Walsh, get it for them then; but pass Mr. Hoover's appropriation NOW.

Do not forget, either, Senator Walsh, that when laborers are put to work, material and machines are needed; and the companies which supply the materials and the machines employ the white collar men as clerks and bookkeepers and office help.

Set the wheels of industry turning and the white collar men will have plenty of jobs.

Vote for it whether you be Democrats or Republicans.

Relieving the financial depression is not a Republican program or a Democratic program. It is a patriotic program.

Put the workingmen to work. They will have to be fed. The farmers will profit by that.

Put the workingmen to work. They will have to be supplied with materials and machines. Manufacture will profit by that.

Put the workingmen to work. They will then have the money to buy clothes and shoes and groceries, and some things for the wife and children and some furniture for the home. Trade will profit by that.

Put the workingmen to work and trade will profit, and manufacture will profit, and the producers of raw materials on the farms and in the mines will profit, and the wheels of industry will hum, and the white collar men will be employed checking up the expenditures and the receipts and the PROFITS.

MONEY will circulate, dividends will be declared, confidence will be restored.

Put the workingmen to work, gentlemen of the Congress of the United States.

Do not be politicians, be patriots.

Do not think of your party. Think of your country.

Do not think of yourselves. Think of the public.

Act wisely. Act liberally. Act quickly.

Pass it NOW.

WILLIAM RANDOLPH HEARST.

Hoover Sends Court Issue To Senate

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—(AP.)—President Hoover today submitted the protocol for American adherence to the World Court to the Senate.

The protocol with an accompanying letter was sent to the Senate late in the day. It was deceived there without notice for some while as the Senate debated unemployment relief.

The Senate foreign relations committee held its regular meeting earlier in the day. It will not meet again in regular session for another week.

Daughter of Film Producer Elopes

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 10.—(AP.)—Gloria Blackton, 20, daughter of J. Stuart Blackton, pioneer film producer, and Cornell Woolrich, 24, author, eloped and were married at Santa Ana, 35 miles south of here, last Saturday, it became known today.

Fugitive Balked in Leap Under Auto

When Patrolman Louis Battis, of Central station, arrested Drew Wingard, 38, of 8 Sampson street, yesterday following a restaurant fight, the prisoner broke away from the officer and attempted to throw himself in front of a moving automobile in Liberty avenue, the officer testified today.

Legionnaires Deny Making 'Unknown Soldier' Member

State and county officials of the American Legion today branded as "sacrilege" the report that the "Unknown Soldier" in Arlington Cemetery had been voted a member of the Capt. John M. Clark Post, Wilkinsburg.

Charles G. Lane, Jr., member of the state executive committee, said:

"In the first place it's sacrilege; in the second, it's impossible because there are no honorary memberships in the legion; in the third, it's absurd.

Charles M. Smith, first vice commander of the legion in Allegheny County, agreeing with Mr. Lane's comment, said:

"It's so ridiculous I wouldn't consider it. The legion cannot have honorary members, not even President Hoover. The thought behind it might be good, but it's sacrilege."

It was reported that dues had been paid the Wilkinsburg body and that a certificate of membership would be provided.

G. O. P. JOINS RELIEF BILL REVOLT

President's Supporters Hint Veto if Senate, House Override His Program

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON,
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—A belligerent Congress, smarting under presidential rebuke and showering criticism on the White House, went forward today with its own program for relief of unemployment and agricultural distress.

Administration supporters, meanwhile, were predicting that in view of the "war" between the White House and Congress, engendered by the President's statement yesterday accusing the membership of "playing politics," there would be plentiful use of the veto between now and March 4 if Congress exceeds the Hoover recommendations.

CONGRESS BITTER

President Hoover's caustic indictment of Congress left a residue of bitterness and resentment in both houses and both parties, and its immediate effect has been to destroy the last vestige of the vaunted co-operation between the Republican and Democratic leadership in the economic crisis, and to call down upon Mr. Hoover's head criticism such as has not been heard of the presidency

SHARKEY TAKES ON SCHMELING

BOSTON, Dec. 10.—(INS.)—Jack Sharkey, American heavyweight champion, through manager Johnny Buckley, today agreed to terms for a world's heavyweight championship bout with Max Schmeling next summer.

The agreement was made at a conference with William F. Carey, president of Madison Square Garden Corporation, and Damon Runyon, representing Mrs. William Randolph Hearst's milk fund.

As part of Sharkey's agreement, the American title holder has consented to meet the winner of a 15-round bout between Primo Carnera and Young Stribling, which the Garden plans to promote at Miami, Fla., next February.

Buckley stated he was confident Sharkey could defeat either Stribling or Carnera and then carry on to a victory in the Schmeling match.

Tip Fails to Trap 'Massacre' Suspect

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—(AP.)—An anonymous telephone call sent a dozen patrolmen and five detectives to a night club in West Fifty-fourth street this morning in search for Fred Burke, St. Louis gunman and suspect in Chicago's "Valentine Day Massacre," but Burke was not found.

The telephone tipster said the gunman and two bodyguards were at the club. Police lined up and searched 18 persons in the club but made no arrest.

ARMSTRONG PROMISES EARLY ACTION ON TOWN HALL SITE

SPEED WORK AS AID TO JOBLESS

Awaits Return of Babcock, McGovern to End Delay of Years; Proposed in 1928

With unemployment a pressing problem, Allegheny County is in a position to give practical relief and plenty of it by putting hammers and shovels in the hands of workers, and County Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong is ready to act if his two colleagues are also prepared to decide where the $6,000,000 Town Hall is to go.

Both Commissioners E. V. Babcock and Charles C. McGovern are out of town, but will return before the end of the week. Asked yesterday why there should be any further delay in the building of the Town Hall, Commissioner Armstrong said:

"I have considered all properties presented to the County Commissioners, not only those upon which a town hall could be built, but also others presented by parties who felt such a building could be placed on their properties. I am ready, the moment the other two commissioners return, to sit with them and take action to close the subject."

If a site is picked for the $6,000,000 project, its selection will advance a project launched almost three years ago, February 6, 1928, with a figurative fanfare of trumpets, at a dinner in the William Penn Hotel.

RIVER CANAL AID ASSURED

Maj.-Gen. Lytle Brown, chief of Army engineers. Brown told the visitors that he realized no project in the country was more important that the one they contemplated, but that he could do nothing until he had investigated the reports on the project. He said:

"I realize and appreciate the importance of the canal you people want. It would provide a splendid waterway from the Ohio through to the eastern seaboard, and seems sound. However, I must go into the thing more thoroughly before I can say anything definite."

A. W. Dann, president of the Pittsburgh Coal Exchange and chairman of the delegation, said:

E. G. Lang, director of Public Works of Pittsburgh, said:

A. B. Shepherd, vice president of the Jones & Laughlin Steel Corporation of Pittsburgh, was the speaker for the delegation before Dempsey.

PAIR HELD UP, AUTO TAKEN

Two armed men early today held up Miss Barbara Bolsinger, night cashier at the barbeque of Michael De Rosa, Jr., at 6647 Washington boulevard, and robbed the cash register of $11.

George H. Logan, of 908 East Diamond street, reported to police that two armed men held him up on the Seventh Street Bridge and robbed him of $15 and a watch.

A thug pressed a revolver against the chest of W. J. Stone, of 1443 Rush street, while he was walking in Reedsdale street, near Cremo, and demanded his money. Stone told police he gave the robber $71.

Three bandits who held up George Wheatley, of 336 North Aiken avenue, as he and a girl companion were driving in Lake road, Highland Park, shortly before midnight, wanted his automobile only, police said.

Wheatley and the girl were forced out of the machine by the armed trio who stepped in their path and then drove away in the car. Neither victim was molested.

Motorcycle Hits Pole, Hurts Fatal

Joseph Swetkosky, 30, of 3107 Zephyr avenue, was fatally injured today when his motorcycle struck a pole on the Treveskyn road near Carnegie. He was removed to Mercy Hospital, where he was pronounced dead from a fractured skull, the coroner reported.

The bride was attired in white and silver with a long tulle veil. She was attended by four bridesmaids. Her husband wore his Airforce uniform and was accompanied by his friend and companion of his transpacific flifgfiht, C. T. P. Ulm.

SLAYER OFFERS ACCIDENT PLEA

A defense of accidental shooting was being offered in Criminal Court today by Frank Rodi, 32, of Gibbons street, on trial for the murder of James Hannan, 26, of Congress street, who died from the effects of a pistol wound received during a fight over a card game in a pool room at 1223 Fifth avenue last April 30.

The case is being tried before Visiting Judge O. C. Kent, of Crawford County. Guiseppi Criazzo testified that Hannan had slapped Rodi, who then pointed a gun at Hannan. The witness said he grabbed Rodi's arm, pushing it down, so the bullet went low, into Hannan's thigh. Blood poison set in. Rodi's defense is that this interference caused the gun to be discharged, he not having intended to fire it.

Fire at Swissvale Damages Restaurant

Fire, believed to have been caused by an overheated stove, nearly destroyed the Quick Service lunchroom at 1814-16 Braddock avenue, Swissvale, early today. The lunchroom served employes of the Union Switch and Signal Company. Fire Chief P. J. McGurk estimated the damage at $2,000.

2 WOMEN HURT IN GAS BLAST

Two women were injured, one seriously, today when a gas explosion wrecked the home of Samuel Markus, 322 Brown avenue, Turtle Creek, according to police.

Turtle Creek firemen, called to extinguish a blaze, estimated the damage at $2,500.

The explosion occurred, police say, in the kitchen, when Ethel Keough, 17, a domestic, of 708 Seventh avenue, Pitcairn, struck a match to light a range. The girl was blown across the room and against a wall.

Mrs. Atta Markus was working on the second floor. She collapsed when she heard the explosion, and was removed from the house along with the Keough girl by neighbors who were attracted by the blast. Mrs. Markus, suffering from shock, was attended by a physician.

The girl was removed to the Braddock Hospital where she is reported suffering from severe body burns and shock.

Turtle Creek police think the range had not been completely turned off, and that gas was escaping prior to the time a match was applied.

Chinese Continue Run on U. S. Bank

HONG KONG, Dec. 10.—(AP.)—The run on the local branch of the National City Bank of New York continued today despite statements that its head office had not closed and its president had not committed suicide as rumored in native circles here.

Chinese depositors swarmed to the bank to withdraw funds, and the institution paid all nervous depositors. Police continued to guard the bank against possible violence. M. F. Courtney, branch manager, said the bank was not in the slightest difficulty and was meeting the situation.

PINCHOT LIKELY TO PICK DIGGS AND MALONE

Two Pittsburghers Reported Slated for Positions In Forester's Cabinet

In the reports emanating from Harrisburg, where Gov.-elect Gifford Pinchot is conferring with leaders from the central part of the state, the names of W. S. Diggs, of Mt. Lebanon, for insurance commissioner and former President of Council James F. Malone for state highway commissioner, have been mentioned as the most logical candidates for these two posts in Pinchot's cabinet.

Diggs is known to be an active candidate for the insurance commissionership and has the indorsement of leading insurance underwriters in the western and central parts of the state.

MALONE ORGANIZER

The logic of Malone's appointment to the state highway job is said by those who profess to know, that if Pinchot intends to build up an organization to leave behind him four years from now this department is the place to do it, and Malone is an organizer as evidenced by the county job holders placed by him.

Diggs, interviewed today, frankly said that he was a candidate for the insurance commissionership. Malone has declined to either affirm or deny that he is being considered for, or considering, the state highway appointment.

ENDS CONFERENCES

HARRISBURG, Dec. 10.—(AP.)—Gov.-elect Gifford Pinchot completed his series of conferences here with state senators today and left without making any announcement as to whether he would oppose the candidacy of Senator Augustus F. Daix, Jr., of Philadelphia, for president pro tem of the Senate.

There were indications, however, that the governor-elect would place a man in the field against Senator Daix. One of the Senators, after talking with Mr. Pinchot, said the governor-elect told him "This is a fight to the finish." It was said the incoming governor would make his announcement in Philadelphia either tomorrow or Friday, before leaving for Washington.

During his stay here for the last two days the former governor has been so besieged with job-seekers that he asked for relief today until he can complete his other more important work, including the organization of the Legislature and selection of his cabinet.

PINCHOT JOB AID PLAN SPEEDED

HARRISBURG, Dec. 10.—(AP.)—Elimination of overtime and the placing of more "shifts" of workmen as well as immediate construction of needed improvements were urged on employers as a means of relieving unemployment at a meeting here of a subcommittee of the Pinchot Pennsylvania unemployment committee.

Gov.-elect Gifford Pinchot, who appointed the committee to report to him next month, left a series of political conferences to appear before the group, composed mostly of manufacturers, and named the regularization by private employers committee and delivered a brief address.

The governor-elect stressed the need for early action on the question of unemployment, saying:

"I recognize deeply the obligations of the state and its leaders at a time like this and the necessity for their putting their heads together and to think over and plan a solution to this problem."

Beaten unconscious, then bound and gagged by two robbers in her home late yesterday, Mrs. Lydia DeRoma, 42, of 1345 Boulevard of the Allies, today was suffering from an injured head.

While Mrs. DeRoma was talking to her daughter, Della, 19, in front of her home, two men entered through the rear door. They were ransacking the front room when the telephone rang. Mrs. DeRoma ran into the house to answer it and was seized, knocked unconscious by a blow on the head and dragged into the front room. There, the bandits tied her hands and feet with a strap and stuffed napkins into her mouth. They took $63 from a desk and her son's bank, containing $3.95.

'HOLDUP' VICTIM POKER LOSER

After Sam Mendlovitz, 23, a benedict of a week, had closed his confectionery store at 322 Mulberry street, McKeesport, and was on his way to his home at 113 Strawberry street, McKeesport, early today he was held up by two Negroes near the McKeesport Police Station and robbed of $18, he told police.

Two patrolmen took him on a search through Negro quarters of McKeesport, hoping to capture the robbers and get Sam's money back. After a two-hour jaunt one of the policemen began to interrogate the victim.

Mendlovitz then admitted, police said, he had lost the $18 in a "private" poker game and was afraid to go home to face his bride. He was fined $10 plus $2.50 costs at a hearing today before Magistrate E. M. Trich.

THINKS WAR GAS POISONED FOG

While scientists are delving in chemical lore to explain the poison in fog that killed scores of persons and hundreds of head of livestock in Belgium, a Pittsburgher comes forward with information that may help to clear up the phenomenon.

Maurice B. Cohill, 440 Walnut road, Ben Avon, was an ensign in the United States Navy during the war on the auxiliary ship Louella, carrying ammunition from America to the Allies.

Immediately after the armistice, Mr. Cohill says, his ship was ordered to Bassens, on the Garrone River, near Bordeaux, to dispose of a huge quantity of poison gas. German prisoners loaded the gas drums on the boat and it was taken out to sea near Bordeaux, where thousands of drums were dumped.

Experts here believe it possible that the drums containing gas may have been so affected by salt water that the gas was released in the Bordeaux sector and reached the Belgian coast, poisoning the fog.

The Democrats are really sore, for they chose to interpret the President's statement as directed at them. Yet they are scarcely less angry than the Republicans at that, for some of the appropriation measures which Mr. Hoover had in mind in making his statement are of Republican authorship and sponsorship.

M'KELLAR REPLIES

Charging President Hoover with an assault upon the Senate that was "unprovoked, unjustifiable, unconstitutional and untrue, in fact," Senator Kenneth McKellar (Dem.), of Tennessee, this afternoon heaped a torrent of criticism on the record of Hoover's administration.

McKellar charged the President with "raids upon the treasury" to aid New York stock gamblers, in making tax refunds to rich men and great corporations and in subsidizing the steel trust by entering a treaty to sink battleships while building new ones. He said the President was showing no concern over starving American citizens, although intensely interested a few years ago in spending millions of American dollars to aid distress in European nations.

DEMANDS APOLOGY

He demanded that the President "apologize to the Senate."

As McKellar was speaking the Senate Appropriations Committee approved the House bill appropriating $110,000,000 in a lump sum to speed the government's building program.

President Hoover recommended this bill and asked $150,000,000. The House passed it yesterday, but reduced the fund to $110,000,000, the leaders saying the other $40,000,000 would be taken care of in regular appropriation bills.

PROVISION ELIMINATED

The Senate committee also eliminated from the postoffice appropriation bill a House provision forbidding pay increases during the coming year. The House wrote that limitation into the bill as an economic maneuver, but the Treasury Department appealed to the Senate to remove the restriction.

Meanwhile, in the House, Speaker Longworth blocked an attempt to obtain immediate action on the Senate $60,000,000 food, seed and feed loan bill. When Representative Aswell, (Dem.), of Louisiana, sought recognition for the purpose of asking suspension of rules to pass the measure, Longworth said he was not in order.

House leaders plan to take up the bill Friday.

NAVY WON'T ASK PARITY BY 1936

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—(INS.)—The Navy Department has no intention of asking Congress to provide naval parity with Great Britain by 1936, according to Admiral William V. Pratt, chief of naval operations.

Questioned before the House Naval Affairs Committee on the department's present building program of $134,935,000, Pratt said:

"The department is not yet ready to state a policy. My personal opinion is that they intend to ask for a building program extending some years beyond 1936. We hope to have authorization for a treaty navy by 1936."

Admiral Pratt characterized the building program before the Naval Affairs Committee as the first step in building a treaty navy.

Coolidge Fears Tax Rise Would Delay Prosperity

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., Dec. 10.

To the Editor of The Sun-Telegraph:

The Congress has before it two distinct problems which in their solution conflict with each other. One is the necessity of providing revenue to meet obligations already incurred, or any new commitments for relief. The other is to do what it can to encourage business. The obligations must be met. But that requires taxes and perhaps more taxes. That will retard business. The answer may lie in temporary borrowing to meet temporary emergency. The danger there is extravagance.

Calvin Coolidge

It would seem perfectly clear that business will not be improved by spending tax money. Taxes are already too high. With all the national reductions, states and municipalities have raised taxes until the grand total is about $13,000,000,000.

Nothing would so encourage business as a reduction of this local and national burden. In 1921 it was particularly the drastic cut in federal expenses and taxes that brought economic revival.

While relief must be provided, those who now advocate higher taxes may be meeting the Treasury requirements but are postponing prosperity. Those who seek to improve our economic position by spending more tax money are going in the wrong direction. Rigid governmental economy would finally solve both problems.

CALVIN COOLIDGE.

J. V. THOMPSON CONTENTED IN HIS 'PRIVATE JAIL'

COAL BARON GIVEN AIRY QUARTERS

By JOHN NEILSON,
Staff correspondent.

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Dec. 10.—J. V. Thompson, former coal baron, awoke today and looked from his room in the county jail building down into an alley separating the jail from the Courthouse, where yesterday he lost his fight to escape a prison sentence imposed upon him for contempt of court.

When the prison gates opened yesterday to receive the former banker and multi-millionaire, it marked the end of his long struggle against the court's sentence for mismanagement of the Messmore and Niccolls estates.

The 76-year-old financier had been ordered to appear in court yesterday morning for a final reckoning and action on Judge J. W. Dawson's decree and commitment of July 31. At 10 a. m., the hour set, he had failed to appear.

GOES TO JAIL

At 4 p. m. it was learned Thompson had, two hours previously, quitted his palatial residence on the outskirts of the town, and given himself into the custody of Fayette County Jail Warden William Wilson, and that Judge Dawson had handed down two orders in the Nicholls and Messmore estates, overruling the exceptions filed, and directing the enforcement of the original decree and commitment to jail.

Mystery surrounded all activity at the jail. Throughout the day Warden Wilson refused to be seen and sent word to the many inquirers that he was "too busy to answer questions."

One adventurous soul who sought information was said to have been forcibly ejected from Wilson's quarters.

It later came to light that Thompson had not been lodged in a prison cell, but had become "a guest" in Wilson's residence section of the jail for the afternoon.

He was said to have dined with the warden's family and to have spent the night in a comfortable room, known as the boys' department, on the second floor of the warden's department of the jail, the windows of which are not barred. Thompson could easily gain a porch and escape, but appears contented with his lot in his "private jail."

MUCH SECRECY

All attempts to obtain a statement from Thompson ended in failure, the aged one-time millionaire "not wishing to be interviewed or to discuss the case."

Instead of a public hearing being held, his chief counsel, E. C. Higbee, went into conference with Judge Dawson, L. K. Porter, of Pittsburgh, trustee for the Niccolls estate; H. S. Dumbauld, attorney for the Messmore estate, and ex-Judge Thomas J. Prather, counsel for the estate of the Princess of Thurn and Taxis.

None of the parties in the conference could be prevailed upon to speak at its conclusion, except to say a decision would be made by Judge Dawson at some future time. Until late in the afternoon throngs of friends and relatives crowded the halls of the Court House seeking word which was not forthcoming.

Gerald Fitzgerald, blind son of an Irish nobleman, and the only immediate member of the Princess' family present at yesterday's proceedings, also refused to comment.

RIOTING CLOSES CUBAN SCHOOLS

HAVANA, Dec. 10.—(INS.)—Schools were ordered closed today at Matanzas, 60 miles east of Havana, following clashes between students and police, the newspaper Heraldo de Cuba reported.

Windows and street lamps were smashed by student paraders before rural guards and police succeeded in restoring order, the newspaper said. Many were reported injured.

Miss Hortensia Gonzalez, student leader of the Normal School for Women, was arrested.

Meanwhile, a mild sensation was caused in official circles here by a letter forwarded to President Machado by Congressman Manuel de la Cruz, in which he suggested that the current disorders could be be ended by a change in government.

He recommended that the presidency be placed into the hands of the Supreme Court.

GIFTS TO GIRL CITED IN TRIAL

KANSAS, CITY, Kan., Dec. 10.—(AP.)—Testimony in the murder trial of Maj. Charles Shepard has turned from poison the government charges he gave his wife to flowers and a canary witnesses charge he gave 22-year-old Grace Brandon, of San Antonio, Tex.

Sardius M. Brewster, district attorney, said the new phase of the trial might bring to the witness stand today the tall, blonde Texas stenographer, for love of whom, the government alleges, the Army officer killed his wife.

The government late yesterday turned from medical experts to witnesses who testified concerning affectionate telegrams and gifts sent by Shepard to Miss Brandon. Other telegrams ordering presents for the stenographer were introduced in court.

CHILEAN CHIEF ESCAPES BOMB

SANTIAGO, Chile, Dec. 10.—(AP.)—An attempt against the lives of President Col. Carlos Ibanez and members of his party was thwarted last night by government agents who discovered and removed a bomb set to blow up the presidential train as it neared the capital from the south.

Police and government detectives, who had been watching development of an "anarchist" plot against the president and his government for days, saw the conspirators place 10 kilos of dynamite under the railroad bridge across the Rio Maipo, 30 kilometers southwest of Santiago, and dismantled the charge before the president's train passed over it.

DOG BITES MATE OF CLAIRE LUCE

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Dec. 10.—(INS.)—As the result of a dog bite, three days ago, Clifford W. Smith, wealthy New York sportsman, today was under observation for rabies.

His wife, Claire Luce, motion picture actress and former Follies star, is caring for Smith at their Hillside home here.

Smith was administered Pasteur serum late yesterday by two attending physicians in an effort to check the disease, should it be present.

The New York sportsman was bitten deeply on the right hand by a huge Mackenzie River malamute belonging to Warren Hymer, motion picture actor. The dog was later found dead and analysis showed it to have been afflicted with the rabies.

The dog bit Smith three days ago while he, Miss Luce and her sister, Polly Luce, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Hymer.

LINDSEY LAYS ROW TO BISHOP

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—(INS.)—That Bishop William T. Manning provoked the disturbance in the Cathedral of St. John the Divine last Sunday when Judge Ben B. Lindsey, of Denver, was ejected from the church by making a "slanderous attack" upon him will be the defense of the fiery little former judge, it was disclosed today. Lindsey will appear in court here Friday to answer disorderly charges.

After a conference with counsel, Judge Lindsey said he would contend that the bishop by his statement in the church about him and companionate marriage "had incited a riot," causing men to strike him and women to shout "lynch him."

Bishop Manning today declined to comment on his controversy with the former Denver judge. He also refused to say whether he had engaged counsel and he declined to comment on the resignation of the Rev. Dr. Bernard Iddings Bell, warden of St. Stephen's College at Annandale-on-the-Hudson, and professor of religion at Columbia University, from the Churchmen's Association.

Cigaret Packages To Carry Fire Warnings

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—(AP.)—Warnings against forest fires are to replace the pictures of actresses that in bygone days decorated the interior of cigaret packages.

J. D. Coffman, in charge of fire control in national parks, said today cigaret manufacturers were inserting warnings for smokers to be careful with the stubs.

In addition, he said, matches are being treated with chemicals to extinguish the blaze.

Coffman said discarded cigarets had caused many disastrous forest fires.

GIRL ARRESTED IN SLAYING

SALT LAKE CITY, Dec. 10.—(AP.)—The effort of a young woman to darken her blonde tresses led to her arrest here in connection with the slaying of Sam Frank, Memphis jewelry auctioneer.

Police said she admitted an effort to rob the 65-year-old salesman and told of having associated with him two weeks, awaiting an opportunity to drug his drinks and escape with his money and diamonds.

Police asserted her statement added that when that opportunity came, in Frank's hotel room last Saturday, she was frustrated by two men who rushed in after the drug had been administered, slugged the unconscious man with a bottle and escaped with the valuables.

LAUNCH PLEA FOR BIRTH CONTROL

Allegheny County League Will Campaign Here for Better Home Conditions

Its aims indorsed by representatives of a dozen welfare agencies of the city and county, at a meeting in the Vandergrift Building today, the Birth Control League of Allegheny County announced today decision to begin at once an active campaign of education looking to bettering the race and home conditions.

Mrs. Ruth D. Ekline, executive secretary of the league, in addressing the welfare workers, said:

"In the face of the present economic depression, the family problem is complicated. The tragedy of over-large families among the poor is sufficient ground for humanitarian action looking to the amelioration of this condition and the safeguarding of the future, that children and parents may have the chance to live as they have a right to live.

"Mothers weakened by continual child-bearing are unable properly to care for the children under better conditions than now exists, and the present crisis greatly reduces the chance for the future generation to grow strong physically and mentally."

Mrs. Raymond Kaufmann presided at the meeting today, and among those who attended were Mrs. William Thaw, Jr., Miss Katherine M. Edwards and Miss Helen G. Tyson, secretary of the league.

A membership luncheon of the league will be held Friday at noon in Kaufmann's when the program of the campaign for better and stronger children will be announced.

SEAL SALE AIDS CHILDREN

Christmas health seals helped brush the teeth of hundreds of Allegheny County boys and girls this year. They did it by helping provide oral hygiene courses in 10 boroughs and townships in the county and by helping pay the salary of the necessary hygienists. Christmas seals also helped support three free dental clinics shared by 12 boroughs and townships.

The children not only listened to talks in simple understandable language, but each one received practical lessons in the art of teeth cleaning. The lessons consist of the oral hygienist cleaning each child's teeth with his own brush before the entire class, or in a union tooth brush drill.

Because of Christmas seals these hundreds of children learned the value of brushing their teeth daily. Where family funds might not stand the strain of purchasing tooth brush and cleansing material or because of any other reason, the money derived from the sale of seals provides them. Added to this, the oral hygienists recommend corrective dental treatment when needed.

AUTO, REPORTED STOLEN, HITS 2

Dennis Southern, 27, former Pirate utility outfielder, was at liberty on bail today for a continued hearing in Morals Court as the result of an automobile, bearing license plates issued to the ball player, running down a girl and a man in Market street, at Fifth avenue.

The injured are Miss Dorothy Moses, 24, of 2416 Melvin street, and Morris Goldberg, a linen importer, of Philadelphia. Goldberg is in Mercy Hospital. He suffered a slight brain concussion. Miss Moses was reported only slightly injured.

The accident occurred early Sunday morning. Southern, who resides in Washington, D. C., was arrested several hours later when he appeared at the Oakland Police Station to report his car stolen. The machine was abandoned after the driver lost control and it had leaped the curbing. Southern was released by the Pirates last month, after coming here from Philadelphia the middle of last season.

AIM TO FORCE BONUS ACTION

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—(AP.)—Militant House veterans demanding that Congress vote a bond issue to pay off the soldiers' bonus in cash, today had launched a fight to overturn administration leaders in the House.

Representative Hawley (R.), of Oregon, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, having thus far refused to give a hearing on bills to this end, a petition was placed on the speaker's desk by Representative Patman (D.), of Texas, asking the committee be compelled to report.

With approximately 30 signatures the first day, Patman said he was hopeful of getting the 218 necessary to force a report on the bill.

The plan, supported in the Senate by Senator Vandenberg (R.), of Michigan, administration stalwart, and others, is flatly opposed by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon.

URGE TOY LISTS IN TODAY

Teachers in the public and parochial schools were urged to get their lists into Toy Mission headquarters at 414 Penn avenue today so that Santa's helpers may get started packing the cheery old fellow's pack for his visit to the needy boys and girls of Pittsburgh.

George L. Bond, founder of the organization, announced today that most of the schools have sent in their lists, but there are still a number of parochial schools and several public schools to be heard from.

There is still need for toys, Bond says. Every police and fire engine house is a collection station for donations, he pointed out, and neighborhood collections will be picked up by Sun-Telegraph trucks and delivered at Toy Mission headquarters.

VOTE MACHINE EDICT ISSUED

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Dec. 10.—Cambria County commissioners have been advised by James A. Walker, secretary of the commonwealth, that unless a contract is awarded within the next 30 days for the furnishing of voting machines in the county, the state official will execute the contract for voting machines in this section.

Bids were received by the county commissioners several months ago for voting machines, but all were rejected on the grounds that the prices quoted were in excess of amounts paid by other counties of the state.

Cost Accountants To Hear Experts

Three officers of the National Association of Cost Accountants will speak at the monthly meeting of the Pittsburgh chapter of the association tonight in the William Penn Hotel. The meeting is a joint meeting of the local chapter and the Pennsylvania Institute of Certified Public Accountants. The speakers are Walter S. Gee, of New York, president; Dr. Stuart C. McLeod, secretary, and A. H. Carter, director.

Sun-Telegraph Ad Recovers Diamond Ring

Delighted, She Said

Why shouldn't she be delighted, this lady who lost her ring . . . a diamond one, too . . . and had it returned to her, safe and sound, by the man who saw her ad in the Sun-Telegraph? Just a tiny three-line ad, too, but with purpose so honest it appealed to the honesty of the man who found the ring. The ad appeared only twice, too! Isn't that astonishing? Take a tip . . . if YOU lose anything, just advertise in LOST and FOUND in the Sun-Telegraph and you'll be surprised. They're regular little ferrets, these ads.

Drys Seize Army and Navy

worth and Dolly Gann took place while they were standing.

We won't believe it until they are sealed.

No financial relief unless Andy Mellon agrees.

Why not get our diplomats back from Geneva so they can help us with the apples?

Mr. Hoover didn't mention prohibition in his presidential message.

And, as far as we know, there was no postscript.

But where there's smoke, there's blindfold tests.

There is the bomicky dryster with a dusty breath like a vacuum cleaner and eyes like worm holes in apples.

He's so dry he won't even pray for rain for the farmers. His antithesis is the walloping wetster who wishes the Mississippi River was whisky and he was being chased across it by the Indians.

Then we would say the liquor problem was solved.

There isn't much wrong with prohibition now except the unfair competition.

If Congress does vote beer we are going to lose something beautiful. Think of how we will miss those pretty labels.

What happens to the man in the green hat when beer comes back? Does he retain his senatorial seat or does he become a bootlegger-at-large?

VET OFFICIALS HELD IN FEES

DETROIT, Dec. 10.—(AP.)—Three Detroit officials of the United States Veterans' Bureau were arrested by federal authorities, charged with accepting fees from disabled veterans for whom they secured compensation.

The men arrested are Marshal Palmer, 37, superintendent of the Federal Employment Bureau for Veterans in Detroit; J. G. Burleson, 30, Michigan adjudication officer for the Veterans' Bureau, and Francis Schilling, 35, a member of the Michigan rating board of the Veterans' Bureau.

Arraigned before United States Commissioner J. Stanley Hurd, all three pleaded not guilty and were released on their personal bonds.

Their arrests followed a week's investigation by secret service officers, which, the officers alleged, disclosed that the three men had accepted $300 from one veteran and $500 from another for whom compensation had been secured.

Cornell Gets $100,000 As Anonymous Gift

MT. VERNON, Ia., Dec. 10.—(AP.)—A anonymous gift of $100,000 for the endowment fund of Cornell College has been announced by Dr. H. J. Burgstahler, president.

CHIROPRACTORS FILE PROTEST

HARRISBURG, Dec. 10.—(AP.)—The Pennsylvania Chiropractors' Association has petitioned the Dauphin County Court for a declaratory judgment against the State Board of Medical Education and Licensure.

The petition, filed by Dr. Blanche Young, Pittsburgh, and Dr. Perry D. Cook, Philadelphia, officers of the association, asked the court to pass on the question of whether drugless therapy should be included within the jurisdiction of the licensure board. The association's petition, moreover, set forth that the board, in taking authority for issuance of licenses to drugless therapists, was exceeding the authority of the medical licensure act of 1911.

For several years the chiropractors have endeavored to have the Legislature pass a law to recognize the chiropractic art of healing and put it on an equal footing with osteopathy, but the efforts have always been futile.

One Letter Makes Difference in Sentence

NEWARK, N. J., Dec. 10—(AP)—A letter of the alphabet made a lot of difference to Mrs. Eleanor Black Acker, 19-year-old bride.

After sentencing John Acker to one year in jail, Judge Brennan turned to the girl and said: "I give you a like sentence."

Mrs. Acker promptly fainted, but regained her spirits when told the judge had said "like" not "life."

The two were convicted of passing worthless checks.

CHOICE SILVER BEING SHOWN

By PENELOPE REDD.

Penelope Redd

One is particularly reminded that the words "collection" and "selection" are far apart when viewing the group of silver objects so discriminatingly chosen for the James Robinson exhibition at the galleries of the Junior League in the Clark Building.

This choice selection of English silver carries us from the pre-Georgian era, through the eighteenth century and the four Georges, to the very shadow of the Victorian twilight of taste, in the nineteenth century. This well-ordered exhibition revivifies modes and manners where a conglomerate and ponderous collection might fail.

The far-reaching influence of the Chippendale period is seen in a large silver tray designed, in 1768, to harmonize with the same type of dining room furniture.

At the other extreme in time, one notes Cellini-like salters. These were modeled in the mid-nineteenth century shortly before the invention of electro-plating, which was in large measure responsible for the decline of silversmithing.

These silver-gilt salters, miniature sculptures of marine deities and animals, were presented by the officers of the British Royal Navy to the Duke of Edinburgh on the occasion of his marriage to the Grand Duchess Alexandranova, of Russia.

Objects have further been selected with consideration for sturdy, masculine tastes, for those who desire museum beauty in the utilitarian, and for those who prefer the purely decorative. All the objects in the Robinson exhibition which will only be on view through December 13, have the unifying element of quality.

Paris bound! Today Miss Anna Nydes will say goodbye to Pittsburgh for a month, starting tonight on her journey to Paris as the guest of Gloria Swanson and the Sun-Telegraph. She will leave the Pennsylvania Station on the Iron City Express at 9:30 p. m., arriving in New York tomorrow morning, will be a co-guest for two days with a score of other Gloria Swanson girls at the Hotel Roosevelt and depart for Europe on the S. S. Ile de France at 10 o'clock Friday night from Pier 57, North River, New York City.

Miss Nydes will be in Paris for nearly two weeks, right at the height of the season—the Christmas holidays. There is entertainment and excitement scheduled for every day of the 12 she will be there, Miss Nydes sailing for home on the Ile de France December 31.

Miss Nydes is not under a single penny of expense for the entire period. In fact, she will be given $200 for spending money, less her Paris hotel bills which will be nominal owing to a special arrangement made by Miss Swanson's representatives. Her life will be insured for $5,000.

In the meantime Miss Nydes' last day in Pittsburgh for a month has been crowded with farewells and best wishes, presents and parties. She says she's still "walking on air," everything has been so unexpected and so wonderful.

She has been the recipient of hundreds of letters and telegrams of congratulations from friends, and even strangers.

The same sentence was given George Wilson when he admitted liquor violations at 1719 Wylie avenue. In addition to a two months' jail sentence, Frank Carr was fined $200 for violating the liquor law at a club at 619-21 Bigelow boulevard.

John Dadlish and Edward Harris, arrested at Locust Point, Beaver County, on November 3, while transporting 240 cases of beer, were each fined $200. Other defendants were fined as follows: James Shibbel, Pittsburgh, $100; Herman Hollman, Pittsburgh, $200; Josephine Jones, Pittsburgh, $50, and Alfred Haggerty, Pittsburgh, $100. FORD HONORED AT DINNER

CHICAGO, Dec. 10.—(AP.)—Henry Ford was presented with a medal by the Illinois Manufacturers' Association for what was termed "His pioneer work in industry and his leadership in present-day manufacturing."

Ford bowed to the large audience, smiled and resumed his seat. He made no address.

Others on the program of the association's annual dinner—spokesmen of national industry—took "optimism" as their keynote and saw present distress as temporary and soon to be replaced by a future of greater advancement.

Sir Edward W. Beatty, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, prophesied a period of equal and continuing progress for his country.

Senator-elect James Hamilton Lewis, of Illinois, and Arthur Brisbane, editor, drew on national history to confirm their beliefs in a period of growth replacing the present retardation.

MILLION VETS PAID BENEFITS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—(AP.)—Director General Hines of the veterans' administration informed President Hoover that 271,210 veterans had applied for the disability allowance created by the last Congress and that out of 99,026 claims passed on, approximately 51 per cent had been allowed.

The largest office of the veterans' administration, in New York, had 9,000 applications, compared with 10,000 at Detroit, a much smaller office, and 13,000 at Louisville, Ky.

The government on November 30 was paying benefits, Hines said, to 1,095,524 persons. Compensation was being paid to 289,344 and death compensations to 93,238, making a total of 382,582 persons receiving compensation.

HOLLYWOOD AND GOTHAM IN REVIEW; LOCAL AMUSEMENT EVENTS

By HARRISON CARROLL.

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 10.

Hildy Johnson, hero of "The Front Page" and the drama's most famous reporter, probably will be played on the screen by Norman Foster, Broadway leading man.

Negotiations now are on for Howard Hughes to borrow the actor from Paramount, where he is under contract. Foster is best known on the screen for his work in the title role of "Young Man of Manhattan." The actor is the husband of Claudette Colbert, also a Paramount star.

Louis Wolheim

"The Front Page," most famous of newspaper plays, has been in Hughes' possession for some time. Since the stage version cut its swath throughout the nation, dozens of imitations have been produced. Some of them have painted a fairer picture of the press. For sheer intensity of melodrama and for boisterous humor, none, however, has surpassed "The Front Page."

Lewis Milestone, an inspired choice for director, will put the play on the screen. Others in the cast are Louis Wolheim as the managing editor and Matt Moore as an inebriated reporter.

THE LAST RESORT

NEVER SAW HER

When Estelle Taylor was called East by the serious illness of her grandfather, Charles Barrett, friends of the star revealed that he had never seen a motion picture. Years ago, in Wilmington, he went into a theater and saw a few feet of a comedy. It displeased him so much that he never again re-entered a motion picture house. The only time he ever saw Estelle act was in her stage venture, "The Big Fight."

FREELAND TO FOX

Having made a success of "Whoopee," Thornton Freeland is being loaned to Fox to direct a talkie version of "Six-Cylinder Love."

Playgoers will remember this as an Ernest Truex stage vehicle a number of seasons ago.

I NOTE THAT

Colleen Moore left the sanitarium Friday and is visiting friends in Chicago. She'll be back in Hollywood in about 10 days, and, incidentally, has turned down an offer of a film role . . . Gary Cooper is reported as offended over the top-heavy billing of Marlene Dietrich in Paramount's "Morocco" . . . William Farnum carelessly brought a suit of mail for Fox technicians to look at, and now has been ordered to wear it in "The Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court" . . . A tough break, for it weighs 56 pounds while the other players' armor is made of aluminum.

RICE 'ADDING MACHINE' WELL PRESENTED AT 'Y' PLAYHOUSE

By GEORGE SEIBEL.

A symbolic drama by Elmer Rice, author of "Street Scene," had its first presentation in Pittsburgh last night at the "Y" Playhouse in Bellefield avenue. "The Adding Machine" was originally produced by the Theater Guild in days before the Guild reached into the provinces. So it was new, and gave the audience another glimpse of Playwright Rice as social censor.

For this play is a criticism of our civilization as debased by machines.

Mr. Zero, the central figure, is a bookkeeper who has slaved for 25 years adding columns of figures, and then loses his job because adding machines are installed. In a fit of rage he murders his boss with a tall file. In the next scene he is tried for murder and condemned to death, and in the next scene has become a ghost in a graveyard. Then he gets to heaven, which he leaves because it is not respectable enough for his bourgeois morality, and last we see him in hell—which is just another office where he has to run an adding machine.

He is told by the chief devil that he must get out and be born again, and then will run an even finer adding machine back on earth.

He is told that he has degenerated through many ages—that he was a healthy monkey 2,000,000 years ago and a strong galley slave 2,000 years ago, but is going down and down.

That is the moral of the play, for which Elmer Rice has had some inspiration from Molnar's "Liliom" and some from O'Neill's "Hairy Ape."

The production at the "Y" under the direction of Helen R. Stout was remarkably impressive and even. The very modern scenery and arrangements showed intelligent and imaginative work by all concerned. The acting too was unusually good, the finest work in the entire large cast being done by Irving J. Newman as the ghost who had murdered his mother. Milton Brauman as Mr. Zero, Ida London as Daisy, Alfred E. Smith as Lieut. Charles and Betty MacDonald as a reveling angel also deserved special mention.

"The Adding Machine" is to be repeated tonight, and merits a full house because it is mordant satire very well staged.

DRINKWATER PLAY, GUILD DRAMA COMING

Tomorrow morning seats go on sale at the Shubert Alvin for the limited engagement, commencing Monday night, of John Drinkwater's comedy, "Bird in Hand." The locale is a picturesque inn in rural England. The company to be seen here will be the original one that was chosen and directed by Mr. Drinkwater himself.

Prior to its New York opening—like "Elizabeth the Queen"—the Theater Guild will present for its fourth play in its third subscription season in Pittsburgh, "In the Meantime," by Claire and Paul Sifton. This new play of contemporary American life will open in the Nixon Monday evening.

George Sharp will present "Daddy Dumplins," a comedy by Earl Carroll, dramatized from the story of the same name by George Barr McCutcheon, in the Pitt next week.

WALTER WINCHELL
On Broadway

Reproof (To Don Wahn)

I saw you at a club the other night,
  It strikes me that you're going very gay;
Of course I wouldn't say that you were tight,
  But when I left—well, you were on the way.

I realize that it is rather rude
  Of me to censor any of your ways,
But throwing rolls is very, very crude—
  You never did such things in other days.

Where did you ever find that girl you had?
  To say the very least she was unique,
You used to be a rather squeamish lad
  Concerning femmes. Of course I shouldn't speak—

But wretched taste like yours seems very queer,
Especially since you once had me, my dear!
—Donna Wanda

Hays Makes Waste

The cinema censors, as everyone probably knows, go to great extremes making all concerned miserable with their verdicts on what must not be shown on the screen. The censors, too, have the power to change titles—titles that have become famous on Broadway, and which are often purchased for goodly sums.

Imagine, then, the joy in the offices of the movie moguls who are screening "The Queen's Husband," when the censors held that the title was objectionable and replaced it with this box office drawing name—"The Royal Bed!"

Sssssscotch!

Then there's the Scotsman, says Dana L. Cotie, who heard the "Buy Now!" slogan, and went out and bought another dime bank.

Fast-Thinking

Frederick Chapin dabbled in show business last season when he financed "Sons o' Guns," which added to his millions. He did it for a lark, it appears, and wasn't keen about contributing any more money to the fickle profession. They urged him, however, to back "Princess Charming," by the same producers. After seeing the show in its tryout stages, a duo of show impresarios begged to become his partners. Chapin, who is supposed to know more about the motor car business than the stage, bargained with them.

"Give me back my original investment," he said, "and you can have the show."

They leaped at the offer, and also bought the rights to the touring "Sons o' Guns" outfit. Chapin got out with more money than he anticipated.

The "Sons o' Guns" show, which looked like a real gold mine on the road, lost its star, the late Jack Donahue, and "Princess Charming" folded up like an accordion in seven weeks.

Softer Job Than This

And Dave Murray, our Bridgeport deputy, reports that he has a brother in Follywood who has a soft job. When a yes-man says "yes," Dave's brother agrees with him.

Reportorial Accuracy

So that future historians will not be misled, Jack Lawrence defends the late "Diamond Jim" Brady with this letter:

"Dear Walter: Mixed chocolates, not taffy, were Mr. Brady's weakness. He had a brief yen for peanut brittle, but it did not last. As his office boy during 1902-03, I was his candy kid. One of my delectable duties was to see that there was always a two-pound box of mixed chocolates on his desk.

"Most of these candies came from a tiny confectionery on Nassau street, near Liberty. The name was Hope. Hope's sweets were washed down with pitchers of draught sarsaparilla which I rushed in from Wilson's old-fashioned druggery, then sitch-ee-ated near Maiden Lane. In warm weather Mr. Brady would knock of three or four qts. of this brew in a day. I do not believe he studded any gal's heel with diamonds. He was no yap and he hated heels, anyhow.

"The popular notion that he wore his own diamonds conspicuously is as daffy as the taffy legend and a lot of others concerning him. He never wore diamonds on his fingers or cravats. They were embedded in his garters, his suspenders or belt buckles, and in other places obscured from public view. The widespread impression that he was 'loud' is all wet. The only thing loud about him was his vocabulary, which he used now and then to broadcast a mess of profanity unparalleled in the history of man. He never smoked or drank hard liquor in his life, but candy and sass finally killed him at a comparatively early age. However, while he lived he LIVED!"

Add Sense of Humors

An actor long idle in Hollywood, returned to Broadway and called on Charles Dillingham, the producer.

"Have you got a job for me?" pleaded the actor.

"Gee," said Mr. Dillingham as he snapped his fingers, "if you had only been here in September I could have put you in three flops."

Haw!

The Nyorker's best gag in ever so many issues is this which is christened "Near Mexico." We were almost put off the Pennsy's crack train "The Florida Special," the other night for laughing so loud and long at it.

It concerns our old pal Rudy Vallee, whose quick thinking, reports the mag, saved himself on the radio the other evening from misinforming his public on a vital geographical fact.

"Our next number," Rudy cooed, "comes from the great Middle West of our own United States. Or rather (he corrected himself just in time, too) the great Southwest. It is called 'Somewhere in Old Wyoming!'"

Add Pun-ch Drunkards

L. Rosenberg wants to make up a sentence containing the word cement like this: "She looked at the other fellow but I think cement me," and Buck I. State can toy with the word "malicious" in this manner: "The malicious part of the army."

In Fewer Words

The Dallas News says:

"This business of criticism is unfairly one-sided, due largely to the prideful, martyr-complexes of authors, actors and producers. Sometime early this century the practice of talking back to critics went out of fashion. The stage folk thought it the better part of dignity to eat their own smoke. They agreed to suffer in silence, for after all what does a critic know about art? And after all, what does he know?"

What he likes.

Heheheh

A playright, according to A. Friedman, who blamed his consistent failures on the dramatic critics, finally tried peddling apples on corners. He had a spot in the Times Square district.

A dramatic critic approached, dropped a nickel on the box, and took an apple. After one bite the critic frowned.

"These apples are bad," the critic barked. "You won't last on this corner more than two days!"

$20,000 AWARD FOR INJURIES

Wilmore Hobson, 1211 Glenn street, Homestead, was awarded a verdict of $20,000 by a jury in Common Pleas Court as damages for injuries in his suit against the Pittsburgh Railways Company, tried before Judge Samuel H. Gardner.

A street car in which Hobson was a passenger November 20, 1928, was struck by another street car at Eighth and Amity streets, Homestead, and was thrown against an iron pole, fracturing Hobson's skull and jaw, according to testimony. He was represented by Attorney Thomas M. Marshall.

FIND LOST GIRL, ARREST MAN

George Reilly, 27, who is alleged to have taken Lillian Jones, 14, of 1308 Rosedale street, from the Conroy public school yesterday on pretext that her mother was ill, was arrested today in his room at 204 Anderson street, by Lieut. Harry Moore and lodged in North Side Police Station on serious charges.

Lillian Jones

The girl was with him, police reported. Reilly will be arraigned before Magistrate T. D. Jones in Morals Court tomorrow.

Lieut. Moore said he learned Reilly had roomed at the Jones home until Monday. Lillian's father, Joseph M. Jones, said that Reilly had intimidated his daughter. The girl said she feared him, police reported.

DISCOVER FAKE MONEY DEVICE

Workmen rasing an old building in Steubenville, O., found hidden in a wall a mould for counterfeiting silver dollars, which they turned over to William A. Landvoigt, United States secret service operative in charge of the Pittsburgh district. The latter sent it to Washington, where it will be destroyed.

It was known as the lemon squeezer type of mould, with plates made from plaster paris. It was believed to have been made and possibly used more than 20 years ago, as the plates were for making bogus dollars of the 1904 issue.

Secret service operatives learned that during the past 20 years more than 30 families had occupied the building, which they were told, had been raided many times.

Wall Man Victim Of Hit-Run Driver

Loses Whiskers, Bride, Car, Cash; Gets Divorce

DETROIT, Dec. 10.—(AP.)—Louis Magnes, 48, charges that when he stopped in a barber shop in Lima, O., for a shave he parted with his whiskers, his bride and his automobile.

Just married to Jean, 28 years his junior, Magnes had deeded his car to her, he told Judge Ormond F. Hunt in Circuit Court. He said she disappeared while he was in the barber shop. She arrived back in Detroit ahead of him and took $1,200 worth of furniture he had purchased. Later her attorney called on him and collected an additional $1,500.

Judge Hunt granted Louis a divorce.

9 POSTOFFICE BOYS PAROLED

Nine former special delivery messengers of the Pittsburgh postoffice pleaded guilty in Federal court today to destroying letters and were paroled for two years by Judge F. P. Schoonmaker. They range in age from 17 to 22 years.

They were warned that violation of any law, during their parole, would render them liable for sentence under the postal charges. The youths were represented by Attorney H. M. Irons, who informed the court no money was in any of the letters, and that all the boys got was eight cents each for the fake deliveries.

INSULL CALLS FOR COURAGE

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 10.—(AP.)—Samuel Insull, head of the Insull utilities, told the Philadelphia Chamber of Commerce today that "bright days will come again because courage and character will make them come."

The occasion of his address was the annual centenary luncheon of the Chamber of Commerce in honor of the 105 Philadelphia firms which have been in business for 100 years or more. Mr. Insull declared:

"We are in the midst of a test of both courage and character today. But there is one thing that we must take to heart. Our good times will not come as a gift of government, or a gift of Providence, but as an effort of the people.

"If the government will but keep hands off except in its own proper field, we will come out of the doldrums where so many now hang idle of hand and brain, mulling over our present distress instead of bending their energies to the progress of tomorrow."

CHICAGO, Dec. 10.—(AP.)—Mrs. Lillian Wallace's jaw hurt after she got home from a dental office where she had five teeth extracted. She rubbed it to ease the pain. The dentist said the teeth had long been infected and that the resulting pressure, he believed, had paralyzed the optic nerve.

EXPERT URGES 2 TAX REPEALS

Proposals for the repeal by the state of the existing mercantile tax law and the direct inheritance tax on estates, were made by Robert Haight, manager of the legislative bureau of the Pennsylvania State Chamber of Commerce, at a meeting of business men yesterday in the William Penn Hotel, sponsored by the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce.

Haight voiced opposition to any change in the workmen's compensation law which might add to the employers' financial burden. He estimated more than 80 per cent of the legislation enacted in this country has a direct bearing on business and this is particularly true as it relates to state legislation. He said:

"No one objects to reasonable regulation of business, but the construction of a law by an over-zealous enforcement official can make things mighty unpleasant in the ordinary conduct of your affairs."

ERROR OF JURY NAMES GRAHAM

A jury in the United States District Court returned a verdict finding "Louis E. Graham" not guilty of violating the national prohibition law.

Judge Nelson McVicar upon receiving the decision smiled. Then he handed it to the court clerk, who in turn handed it back to the foreman of the jury. Louis E. Graham is the name of the United States attorney.

The jury foreman scratched out the name of Graham and wrote "Emmanuel Lewis" as the name that should have been given on the verdict. Lewis was acquitted on a charge of having unlawful possession of 91 pints of home brew beer, 72 half pints of whisky and other alleged contraband in Pittsburgh on June 15, 1929.

Blaze Threatens Destruction of Ship

BLYTH, England, Dec. 10.—(AP.)—Fire aboard the former liner Empress of Scotland, docked here for dismantlement, this morning raised fears that the vessel might be completely destroyed.

The blaze was spectacular for hours and resisted all efforts of a large fighting force to extinguish it. Despite fear that fuel oil tank ships nearby might explode, firemen with masks remained aboard at noon, braving the dense fumes from the blaze which was consuming the cabins of the liner.

Search Abandoned For 12 Lost at Sea

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 10.—(AP.)—Search for the missing San Pedro fishing boat Fidelity and her crew of 12 men was abandoned by the Navy today after an area of 117,000 square miles of the Pacific had been covered by destroyers and planes.

So thorough was the search that, although no trace of the Fidelity was found, it turned up one shipwrecked party at Guadalupe Island, one disabled fishing boat and one abandoned skiff.

DEATH THREAT SENT 'DEB'

CHICAGO, Dec. 10.—(AP.)—The fantastic story of an alleged extortion plot against Miss Marian Wright, 18-year-old society girl, unfolded today following the arrest of William Kuhn, 23, broker's clerk, accused of sending threatening letters. He denied their authorship. One of them, police said, mentioned "poisonous darts which would be dispatched noiselessly 3,000 feet."

"How would you like to meet such a fate?"

Police so quoted from one of the letters, after they had booked Kuhn last night on a charge of attempting to extort $25,000 from Miss Wright under threat of death to her or her father, an executive of the Edgewater Steel Company. Kuhn's brother, Wendell, a broker, characterized the matter as a "mistake" and posted bonds for the accused man's appearance in felony court today.

Fail to Find Missing Banker on Liner

John D. Mammas, 32, former assistant cashier and manager of the foreign department, Citizens National Bank of Monessen, sought on embezzlement charges, was not believed aboard the steamship Saturnia when it docked at Naples, Italy, according to an Associated Press dispatch from Rome. It was suggested he may have been on the boat under an assumed name. Federal authorities had asked the Italian government to arrest him.

A drop brings relief from Colds

It only takes a drop of Vapex to give you all-day-long relief from the misery of a cold.

In the morning, use Vapex on your handkerchief. Its delightful fragrance clears your head, opens up your nose, lets you breathe freely and easily. And it fights your cold effectively and safely.

And use Vapex on your pillow at night—a drop at each end. This use of Vapex induces sound slumber when a cold keeps you awake.

Vapex is very inexpensive. The $1 bottle contains fifty applications—an average of only 2c apiece. Millions of bottles are sold yearly. It is approved by Good Housekeeping because it is safe for every one—even little children.

For safety's sake, always ask for V-A-P-E-X—the original inhalant—and do not accept an inferior product that claims to be "just as good."

KONJOLA VERY REMEDY NEEDED

Five Years Suffering from Stomach Trouble Ended by Modern Medicine.

After all, one takes medicine for just one purpose—to get relief, and Konjola gives relief in case after case where all else tried has failed.

MRS. EMMA GORRING

Consider what Konjola did for Mrs. Emma Gorring, 232 First Street, Neville Island, Pa. Then ask your druggist about Konjola. Let him explain what Konjola does. Mrs. Gorring says:

"For five years I suffered from my stomach, and I was in a terribly run-down condition. Nothing I ate seemed to agree with me, and I felt tired and worn-out all the time. I tried everything recommended, but nothing helped. A friend told me about Konjola, so I decided to try it. I have used four bottles and feel like a different person. I have a good appetite, food digests as it should, and I am able to get sound, restful sleep every night. It's a pleasure for me to endorse Konjola."

Konjola has won and kept more than a million friends simply by doing what it is designed to do.

Choose your radio from any of the high-grade makes on the market. They are fine, precision instruments, built not only to reproduce with life-like realism, but to take their place in nice surroundings and to last for years.

A good, modern, all-electric radio, with latest improvements, may be had for surprisingly little cost.

PEACHES' SUIT CALLED DRAW

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—(INS.)—Peaches Browning and Edgar Allen, her erstwhile theatrical manager, are even today. A jury decided before Justice John E. McGeehan in Supreme Court that neither owed the other a cent.

The jury denied Allen his claim for $15,000 in the form of commissions from the $41,000 which he said Peaches earned through theatrical engagements obtained through him.

At the same time the jurors denied that there was foundation for Peaches' counter-claim of $4,545 which she claimed to have advanced to Allen.

Browne to Speak on 'Jews Are Like That'

Dr. Browne.

Taking as his subject "Jews Are Like That," Lewis Browne, who rose from the comparative obscure position of rabbi in a small community to that of accepted authority on comparative religions, will deliver the second lecture of the regular series at the Y. M. & W. H. A., in Bellefield avenue, next Tuesday night, December 16.

Dr. Browne is the author of many books, including "This Believing World" and "Stranger Than Fiction," which brought him fame almost overnight.

Shoplifter Loses Costly Fur Coat

DENVER.—(INS.)—A raid on a Denver public market proved rather expensive for a woman shoplifter recently. She was caught by a clerk as she was making an attempted getaway with less than $3 worth of groceries. He caught her by the collar of her expensive fur coat and held her while another clerk called police.

ADVISES CHILD LABOR CHANGE

Pennsylvania's child labor regulations must be tightened if they are to conform to recommendations of the recent White House Conference on Child Health and Protection, according to Dr. E. N. Clopper, executive secretary of the Federation of Social Agencies.

Clopper's views were expressed at a meeting in the Downtown Y. M. C. A. where Pittsburghers who attended the conference reported on the three-day meeting. Horace F. Baker presided at the meeting.

Dr. Edward Rynearson, director of vocational guidance, Board of Education, reported on the vocational guidance section of the conference.

Protection of family life was dwelt on by Arthur Dunham, secretary of the children's division of the Public Charities Association. Miss Margaret Brooke, secretary of the Children's Aid Society of Western Pennsylvania, spoke on the social worker's point of view of the conference. Baker described the layman's attitude and part in the meeting.

SCHOOL BURNS, PLOT BLAMED

BEAVER, Pa., Dec. 10.—School directors of Industry Township are investigating a fire, believed of incendiary origin, which destroyed the two-room portable building, near Barclay's Crossing, with its piano and supplies.

A passing motorist discovered the blaze. The Beaver fire department answered. Secretary Joseph Marx reported the janitor had found the fire low a few hours before the fire broke out. Another school building on the same site was destroyed four years ago by fire.

TARDIEU'S FOES HAMPER LAVAL

PARIS, Dec. 10.—(INS.)—Final effort to hurdle a triple obstacle in his path and form a ministry were begun today by Senator Pierre Laval. Informed circles asserted he intended to accomplish the task or give up the attempt before the end of the day.

For 46 hours now the premier-designate has fought, pleaded and compromised with leaders of the various political parties. The situation has become so critical that a dissolution of the Chamber of Deputies, with a call for new elections, has been held not improbable.

MINE DEATHS DECLINE

HARRISBURG, Dec. 10.—(AP.)—Mine accident fatalities during November totaled 42, as compared with 67 in October, Secretary of Mines Walter H. Glasgow reported. This figure brought the total for the 11 months of this year to an amount 131 less than that for the corresponding period in 1929. Of the 42 fatal accidents last month, Secretary Glasgow reported 24 in anthracite mines and 18 in bituminous mines.

He reported labor conditions normal in the anthracite mines last month with an improved operating schedule during the last week of November and continuing since then.

In the bituminous field labor conditions were normal for operating plants and unemployment showed little or no improvement. Estimated production was 9,655,000 net tons, a loss of 5 per cent from October's figure.

Jim Crowley

SIGNS CONTINUE TO point to another long list of coaching changes in the collegiate football world following the 1930 season. The number will hardly equal the mark reached a year ago, when gridiron mentors were shifted at no fewer than 10 prominent schools in the East alone, yet it appears likely to be far above the average, with further changes due to follow the retirement of Bill Roper at Princeton, Nibs Price at California, Arnold Horween at Harvard, Ira Rodgers at West Virginia, Wallace Wade at Alabama and Gene Oberst at Washington and Lee.

Some of the coaches who were reported as likely to step down are going to remain on their old jobs, such as Frank Cavanaugh, of Fordham, who has signed a new two-year contract, but there are indications that the near future will see several other widely known pigskin tutors added to those who have already left their old posts. Incidentally, one of the changes may take place in this district. Of the shifts rumored as possible in other parts of the country one of general interest involves Jim Crowley, former Notre Dame star, of Four Horsemen fame, who made a fine record this year at Michigan State College in East Lansing.

CROWLEY ADMITS THAT he has received an offer from Gonzaga University, of Spokane, Wash., and Michigan State is worried over the possibility that it may lose him. When Harry Kipke quit Michigan State after one season to go to Michigan his loss was keenly felt, but Crowley made the East Lansing school forget that loss quickly when he stepped in this year and built up a great team.

Athletic officials at Michigan State thank Crowley for the fact that the 1930 season was their most successful in 15 years, and it is said they will make Gonzaga do some tall bidding to get the services of the former star halfback of the Irish. The 1930 coach at Gonzaga was another former Notre Dame player, R. L. Mathews. Crowley's fine record gives the Four Horsemen of 1924 a complete record of coaching success. Of the three other members of that immortal backfield, Elmer Layden is at Duquesne University, Harry Stuhldreher is at Villanova and Don Miller is at Ohio State.

CLOSE REVIEWS OF Notre Dame's smashing victory over Southern California last Saturday show that Tom Conley, captain and right end of the Irish, played the first part in making possible Bucky O'Connor's sensational 80-yard run by taking out Bob Hall, the Trojan's giant left tackle, who stands 6 feet 4 inches and weighs 212 pounds.

Tom Conley

Bert Metzger pulled back out of the line, cut over to left end and blocked out Joslyn, the opposing flankman. Johnny O'Brien swung over and helped put Apsit, left halfback, out of the play when O'Connor spurted toward the side-line and appeared likely to be forced out of bounds. O'Connor then sidestepped the last Trojan tackler having a real chance to get him, and for the last 50 yards of his canter, Culver and Yarr, who had spun down the field toward the north sideline, blocked off all pursuing foemen.

THE NOTRE DAME player who has been singled out for most mention by the defeated Trojans is Bert Metzger, the 154-pound guard. Howard Jones, Southern California coach, who had expressed some doubts prior to the game as to whether the little lineman would be able to weather the Trojans' expected running attack, was frankest of all. "I think Metzger rates all-America," he said. "He certainly is a great guard." Metzger himself handed a little boost to two Pittsburgh teams in a statement after the game. "I was surprised that the Southern California line had no more drive," said he watch-charm lineman. "Pitt and Carnegie Tech showed us as much or more."

THEY'RE ALREADY TALKING about next year in the Western Conference, and five of the Big Ten are being credited with championship chances. Purdue, which will come here to play Carnegie Tech on October 24, has a particularly bright outlook, with an unusual lot of fine material coming up from this year's freshman squad.

Northwestern will have good replacements for all of its losses and Jake Sullivan, from Loyola, is expected to become one of the country's best ball carriers. Michigan has three fine freshmen in Everhardus, Barnard and Petoskey, the last-named an end of the Oosterbaan type. Ohio State has a promising freshman tackle in Ted Rosequist, and besides, Bill Welever, triple-threat back, is in school again trying to bring up his grades. Myron Ubl, a sensational freshman forward passer, is expected to add considerable strength to Minnesota.

HANK DEBERRY, VETERAN Brooklyn catcher, who was injured in an automobile accident near Savannah on Monday in which J. B. Freeman, sheriff of Hardin County, Tenn., was killed, has been mentioned among the players not likely to return to the big baseball show next season.

Hank DeBerry

The decision of the Brooklyn club to keep Val Picinich in addition to Alfonso Lopez and Paul Richards is taken to mean that the Robin management plans to drop DeBerry, and announcement of his release is expected at an early date.

THE PITTSBURGH CLUB, on the lookout for another catcher with big league experience, might have been interested in Picinich if a chance to get him had presented itself, but it is unlikely that the Pirates or any other big league club will take on DeBerry. The latter is 37 and about done. Even before the coming of Lopez last season the brooklyn club used Hank only to catch Dazzy Vance

These two came up to the Robins together in 1922 from the New Orleans club of the Southern Association, and the departure of DeBerry will break up one of baseball's most famous batteries, one that held a place in a select line including Johnson and Street, Alexander and Killefer and others.

WHEN THE FOOTBALL game between Alabama and Washington State in Pasadena on New Year's Day has passed into history, the University of Pittsburgh will still hold the proud record of being the only attraction that ever filled the Rose Bowl to capacity. According to reports from the coast the 'Bama-Cougar tilt is going to fall far short of being a sell-out.

Since the Bowl was filled in at the southern end there has been only one capacity gathering of 70,000. That was registered when Pitt and Southern California played last New Year's Day. The year, before, California and Georgia Tech were 10,000 short of filling it, and a season earlier Pitt and Stanford were 12,000 shy. Last summer 15,000 more seats were added, making the present capacity 85,000, and reports of the advance sale say there is no chance of that mark being even approached, as Washington State lacks the big student and alumni body and strong local following of Southern California.

B. DREYFUSS IS NAMED ON COMMITTEE

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—(AP.)—The American and National leagues opened their annual conclave yesterday by drawing up the battle lines and naming committees for the arguments with the minors today over the dangerous and complicated problem of the draft.

The American League re-elected Ernest S. Barnard president and treasurer of the American League for a period of five years, named the new board of directors and solved minor problems without disposing of the questions of the lively ball and the increasing home run output. Then the league named Barnard, Frank Navin, head of the Detroit Tigers; Jacob Ruppert, owner of the New York Yankees, and L. C. McAvoy, vice president of the St. Louis Browns, its draft committee.

DREYFUSS SELECTED

The National League, after a similarly routine session, chose Barney Dreyfuss, owner of the Pittsburgh Pirates; William Veeck, president of the Chicago Cubs, and Emil Fuchs, owner of the Boston Braves, as the league representatives in today's discussion with the committee of nine from the American Association, International and Pacific Coast leagues.

The four American League directors chosen were Clark Griffiths, of Washington; Phil Ball, of St. Louis; Frank Navin, of Detroit, and Connie Mack, of Philadelphia.

The National League elected Sam Breadon, of St. Louis; Sidney Weil, of Cincinnati; Frank B. York, of Brooklyn, and L. C. Ruch, acting president of the Philadelphia Nationals, to its new board.

MEET MINORS TODAY

William Harridge was re-elected secretary of the American League for five years and Navin vice president for a one year term.

No indication of the stand the major leagues would take today in the draft conference came from the meetings and there was no intimation that the break between the big leagues and the minors could be healed. All players dealings between the majors and the five non-draft minors ceased December 1.

The National League magnates, meeting in regular session while the American League owners gathered in a preliminary session to the regular meeting late today, failed to reach any conclusions on the highly controversial problems of the promiscuous home run and the lively ball, subjects slated for bitter argument.

John A. Heydler, president of the National League, announced after the session that zoning of the parks to restrict home runs, an idea favored by several owners, was not even discussed.

The meeting adjourned after hearing Julian W. Curtis, president of the company manufacturing the present National League ball, explain its manufacture. The subject of the lively ball will be brought up again at another meeting of the league following the draft discussion today.

RECORD ATTENDANCE

The total attendance in figures for the National League season was 5,500,000, he said, a half-million better than the 1929 season and 136,000 above the 1926, the best previous year in the league's history. Chicago led in home attendance with 1,463,624. New York proved the best road team, playing before 850,000 from home.

Only 67 games were postponed because of rain. The league used 61,740 baseballs, another new record.

The American League decided to number all players, both at home and on the road, and discussed the screening of ball parks to prevent home runs, but took no action.

EXPLANATIONS OF RIPLEY'S CARTOONS OF YESTERDAY: CASEY JONES—John Luther (Casey) Jones, whose name and fame have encircled the globe, was born in Jordan, Ky., (near Cayce), March 14, 1864. He started railroading on the Baltimore and Ohio as apprentice telegraph operator at Jordan, then worked for the Mobile and Ohio at Cayce, and thereafter went to Jackson, Tenn., where he boarded at the home of Miss Janie Brady, whom he later married. She still lives in that city. Jones was given the nickname "Casey" by a fellow boarder who was told that he came from Cayce, Ky. THE ALLIGATOR PEAR—The alligator-pear is not a pear and has nothing to do with an alligator. A pear belongs to the natural order of Rosaceae and does not resemble a pear in construction, consistency or form. The word "alligator" in its name, or avocado, as it sometimes is called, is a corruption of the Aztec word "ahuacatl," under which name it first came to the attention of the Spanish.

TITLE GRIDIRON FRAY SUNDAY

By TOM BIRKS.

What stacks up as the title battle of the independent gridiron loop will be played at Rainbow Gardens, McKeesport, Sunday, when the Majestics and Olympics meet in the feature game of the season. The result will not clinch the title unless the Olympics win, and then the race is over, but if the Majestics win, then Art Rooney must stage his game with the Ambridge Mystics, and P J Caul is all set for that little thing.

In anticipation of a close game four of the district's leading officials have been assigned to the game. Freizel will referee, Earl Cavanaugh will umpire, Leo Mackey will be linesman, and Carl Rebele will be field judge.

No Pass List For Benefit Battles

Announcement was made today that the pass list has been entirely suspended for the boxing show to be held in Motor Square Garden next Monday night for the benefit of the city's unemployed fund. This means that there will be no free tickets of any sort. The small army of fans who see the mitt shows gratis will be asked to dig down on this occasion to help along the good cause, which they likely will do, as they all are confirmed fight fans.

HAL CHASE JAILED

NOGALES, Ariz., Dec. 10.—(AP.)—Hal Chase, once the most graceful first baseman in major league baseball, was in jail yesterday. He was given a preference of paying a fine of $75 or serving 30 days when he pleaded guilty to a charge of driving an automobile while intoxicated. He did not pay the fine.

WOOD VICTOR OVER TABERSKI

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—AP.)—Unheralded by any pretentious list of titles, Arthur Wood, a diminutive shotmaker from New York, yesterday made a bid for the world pocket billiard championship, turning back Frank Taberski, of Schenectady, N. Y., in the first upset of the tournament. He came through to defeat Taberski, 125 to 7, in 38 innings.

Benny Allen, of Kansas City, holder of the national title in 1912, 1913 and 1914, started on the come-back road, but lost his first game to Onofrio Lauri, of New York, 125 to 44, in 27 innings.

Carideo Selected As Outstanding Grid Star

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 10.—(AP.)—The board of directors of the Veteran Athletes of Philadelphia has singled out Frank Carideo, Notre Dame's quarterback, as the outstanding football player of the year. The Veteran Athletes' annual dinner will be held January 31.

Len Macaluso, Colgate fullback, Eastern intercollegiate high scorer, also will be honored as well as the Notre Dame and Colgate teams. The Ramblers have been selected as the national champion football team and Colgate as the outstanding team of the East.

WILSON SEEKS $35,000

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—Lewis (Hack) Wilson, star slugger of the Cubs, plans to ask for $35,000 when he meets Owner Wrigley to discuss a contract for 1931, it was reportd here today.

130 EXPERTS NAME STAR ELEVENS

Here they are—the Hearst Consensus All-America teams of 1930.

They need no apology and little explanation. The men named won their places because they were picked as the best by 130 writers and experts who selected them not on hearsay, but because they actually saw them in action and knew what they could do.

As the teams stand, there is little to choose between the men on the first or starting team and the men on the second and third or reserve teams.

With so many teams in the country and so many outstanding stars, the difficulty is not to pick 11 able men, but rather to cut the squad to 33 men and discriminate against so many who rate selection.

Perhaps you'd like to know some of the men whose football opinion and judgment is reflected in this consensus selection Hearst sports editors and football writers and experts throughout the country entered their votes. More than 130 individual teams were submitted in the canvass.

COACHES ASSIST

Among the well-known football personalities who were consulted and whose opinions were considered were Howard Jones, coach at U. S. C.; Jimmy Phelan, coach at Washington University; Slip Madigan, coach at St. Mary's; Herb Dana, famous Pacific Coast official; Lloyd Yoder, former Carnegie Tech star; Coach Robert Zuppke, University of Illinois; Dick Hanley, coach of Northwestern; Jack Elder, former Notre Dame star; Hunk Anderson, assistant coach at Notre Dame; Tom Thorpe, famous Eastern football official; Red Cagle, coach at Mississippi A. & M., and former Army star; Wallace Wade, coach at Alabama; Charles Bachman, coach at the University of Florida—and many others equally well known and equally well qualified to judge.

And now a word about the vote. Certain of the men picked were outstanding. Carideo, of Notre Dame, at quarterback and Sington, of Alabama, at tackle were almost unanimous. Pinckert, of U. S. C., was almost as heavy a favorite for a halfback post.

CLOSE CENTER FIGHT

The closest vote came for center with Ticknor, Siano, Roberts and Hein all grouped for the honor. Ticknor had a margin of only three points over Siano, and Roberts polled only four points over Hein in the fight for the third place honors. The ends also waged a tight battle, with Arbelbide and Dalrymple, of Tulane, finishing only a short distance back of Baker and Fesler, who won first team honors.

The most scattered vote was for the guard positions. Scores of men were named and the vote in no instance was one-sided, proving, perhaps, that guard material this year is not quite up to standard, and that there were no outstanding guards in the country. Wisniewski, of Fordham, drew the heaviest guard vote, and Linehan, of Yale, was only one vote back of Koch, of Baylor, for a place.

Of this year's first team only three men are carry-overs from last year. Carideo, Fesler and Ticknor all won places on last year's All-America. The others are newcomers. Naturally, even in a consensus as widespread as this one, there is the chance that some little-heralded star of some small institution may have been overlooked. This always is likely to happen.

COMBINED JUDGMENT

But, on the whole, this team represents the combined best judgment of more than 100 football experts who know football from the ground up. And as such it is submited as worthy an complete. Certainly in the 33 m named on the three teams you wi find all the outstanding stars of an outstanding season.

By CARL W. SHATTO.

The Yellow Jackets, crippled physically, but hale and hearty in fighting spirit, advanced to within easy speaking distance of second place in the International League hockey race by defeating the revamped Syracuse Stars, 2 to 1, at Duquesne Garden last night.

The local puckmen entered the battle minus the services of two defense men and with another guard and a forward handicapped by injuries, and the fact that they were able to outfight the invaders speaks well for the strength of their reserve material and the durability of their remaining regulars.

Duke McCurry, out for three weeks with a broken rib, was joined on the list of the missing when Leo Reise, big defender obtained from London late Monday in exchange for Steve Yankoski, was held up at the border and could not appear here in time for the fray. When Leo finally convinced the United States immigration chiefs that he was entitled to entry and arrived in Buffalo at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, Roy D. Schooley, local president and manager, ordered him to hire a plane and fly here. Reise was not able to find an aviator ready for the jaunt, and did not get into Pittsburgh until this morning.

FRASER STRONG

As a result of these misfortunes, Art Berlett and Gordy Fraser had to do yeoman service at the defense points, and big Art held up well despite painful side and thigh injuries. Fraser was a tower of strength from start to finish, and although he was the target of many Syracuse drives, he refused to budge a single inch.

The Jackets also were handicapped on the attack as the result of an ankle sprain which Mickey McGuire had to nurse to a certain extent. In the emergency Schooley and Coach Charles Reid introduced a third front line, made up of Paddy Sullivan at center and Jimmy Smith and Eddie Bouchard at the wings. Paddy, a star here when the Yellow Jackets were amateurs, gave the fans a kick by pulling off several of his renowned poke checks.

Tory Gregg and Berlett and Milt Halliday and Lloyd McIntyre teamed up to produce the Pittsburgh goals. Gregg dented the cords of the Syracuse cage just 56 seconds after the opening face-off. The local captain and right wing took a pass from Berlett as the latter smashed into the Stars' defense, and registered with a low hot shot to a corner of the net.

INCREASES LEAD

Halliday increased the Pittsburgh lead to two goals after six minutes of play in the second stanza. McIntyre earned an assist by feeding Milt the disc in mid-ice, but it was the latter who provided the fireworks. Although a left wing, Halliday slashed down the right lane, necessitating a backhand shot as he neared the cage. His accurate lift was the neatest scoring effort seen here this season.

Pete Palango, lanky forward who was purchased by the Jackets from Les Canadiens about a fortnight ago, but who riggled off the local hook just when Schooley thought that he had him landed, registered the Stars' only tally three minutes after Halliday had finished his work. Pete scored during a wild scrimmage, while Goalie Albie Cox was prostrate on the ice.

The Stars never quit trying, and they gave the fans many a thrill and the Jackets many a scare in the closing moments of the fight. Only great work by Cox kept the Pittsburgh lead safe.

GOALIES IN DUEL

The goalies' duel was one of the game's features, for Bud Fisher, who started the season as a Jacket, was in the Syracuse cage. Bud made more fine saves than he ever did for Pittsburgh, but Albie made even more, and carried off the decision. Any goalie outshining Cox has to do a lot of goaling.

The fine work of Gregg and Whitey Fields was outstanding on the Pittsburgh attack, and Holmes, Palango and Lauder were the Stars who gave Cox the most trouble.

Syracuse came here boasting successive victories over Detroit and Windsor. The win made the Jackets' record three victories and two ties in their last six starts. The lineup:

PITTSBURGH—2		SYRACUSE—1
Cox	G.	Fisher
Berlett	D.	Fournier
Fraser	D.	Hughes
Fields	C.	Holmes
Gregg	W.	Lauder
Proudfoot	W.	Markle

Referee—Smith, Hamilton.

Second period—Pittsburgh, Halliday (McIntyre), 6:32; Syracuse, Palango (Brown), 9:32. Penalties—Hughes, tripping; McIntyre, roughing.

SERVICE TEAMS WORK HARD

WEST POINT, N. Y., Dec. 10.—(AP.)—With the entire corps of Cadets and an improvised band along the sidelines, the Army football squad went through one of the hardest scrimmages of the season yesterday in preparation for Saturday's charity game against the Navy.

During the defensive part of the scrimmage, the Plebe team put on Navy plays with considerable success. Johnson, Plebe halfback, who is short and stocky, repeatedly found holes in the line and bored through for substantial gains.

INGRAM CONFIDENT

ANNAPOLIS, Dec. 10.—(AP.)—Navy Bill Ingram, who gained his name through five years of coaching football at the Naval Academy, professes not to be worrying a great deal about the charity game with the Army at New York on Saturday.

"It's just another game, and we are preparing as we would for any other team," he said yesterday as he pulled off his togs after a strenuous afternoon with his charges. "We'll give 'em a battle."

DETROIT BEATS LOCAL TEAM

DETROIT, Dec. 10.—(AP.)—For the second time in eight years, Detroit's amateur boxers turned back a Pittsburgh team last night, making a clean sweep of the seven matches in an intercity meet. Except for two bouts, the Pittsburgh boxers were outslugged and outboxed. The summary:

Albert Tuckwell (Detroit) outpointed Daniel Auld (North Braddock, Pa.) bantamweights.

LOCAL BOUTS STAGED

The second amateur boxing show of the Twenty-seventh Ward Athletic Club was staged in Columbia Temple last night. The summary:

135-pound class—Frank Deal, H. T. Little Club, won from Don Nuss, Homestead Library A. C., three rounds, decision. Bill Finney, Superior A. C., won from Al Van Gura, H. T. Little Club, three rounds, decision.

DONOGHUE WINS

KINGSTON, Jamaica, Dec. 10.—(AP.)—Ten thousand persons cheered Steve Donoghue, famous English jockey, as he steered the 2-year-old filly, Nunniger, to victory in a five furlong race yesterday afternoon as part of the December racing carnival.

New Penn Grid Captain Given Authority

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 10.—(AP.)—Football officials of the University of Pennsylvania at a meeting yesterday decided to give full responsibility and authority to the football captain on the field. A statement issued by Lou Young, chairman of the football committee of the counsel on athletics, said:

"It is the intention of the football committee that under the contemplated revision of the football system at Pennsylvania that the captain shall have full responsibility and authority of leadership. This was decided upon after the ratification of Paul G. Riblett as captain of the 1931 team."

Warren Gette, backfield star, said he is through with football at Penn and will not be a candidate for the team next year. He said playing under the present system is "drudgery."

The Newman Club, local chapter of the National Federation of College Catholic Clubs, will open its second week of its sports activities tonight with two basketball games in the Cathedral High School gym, adjacent to Duquesne Garden.

Raymond Kopnicki's Cardinals, including in their lineup Pat Centrone, co-star with Albie Booth, of Yale, at Hillhouse High School, New Haven, opposes the Bears, of Duquesne University, in the first game, while the second brings together the Crescents and Mu Phi Kappa. The Phi Kappa boys include in their lineup Joe Tommins and Joe Tormey, of Pitt.

TWO CLUBS IDLE

Rho Phi Kappa and Phi Nu Sigma, the remaining clubs, are not slated for action tonight. Howard Eyth, of Carnegie Tech, leads the Rho Phi Kappa gang, while Dick Schrading, former Duquesne University star, captains Phi Nu Sigma. Admission to all games is free.

An attractive schedule of league games grace tonight's program. In the Allegheny County League the Mieles play at Ellwood City and Fintex at Glassport, while in the West Penn loop, the Schneiders are the attraction at St. Michael's, and the Knickerbockers are visitors at Perry High School in the Hoyles' home opener.

The Trinity Cathedral Royals, fresh from their one-point victory over the Monessen Trinity passers, meet First Presbyterian Church in a Pittsburgh Church League game on the Trinity floor. Coraopolis plays at North Boroughs in the Wagner Institutional League, while in the County Amateur League two games are booked with the Downtown Y at Kingsley House and Tarentum Y at Wilmerding.

Three games are listed in the Metropolitan League, the Penn Cadets playing at Brentwood, the Hurleys at Lefkowitz Five and Goodwill at P. A. Caros.

LAFAYETTES COP

The Lafayettes and Fintex copped their County League battles last night, Duquesne beating Glassport, 35 to 28, and Fintex setting down Ellwood City, 30 to 22. Andy Benedict and Nate Lippe were the big stars.

The Knickerbockers bumped the North Side Buicks, 28 to 25, in their West Penn League encounter. In independent contests Smithfield Street Church defeated the Sharpsburg Comets, 31 to 20; the Trojans won from the Whoopee Club, 30-14, and Trinity Comets beat First Presbyterian Midgets, 17-16.

Floor Notes

The Goldenson Vanities are hard at work for their opening game of the season Friday night when they oppose the Blairsville Co-Hi girls on the St. John's floor. The game is being played for the benefit of St. John's Lyceum. Next Wednesday night the Vanities oppose the Fairmont Pirates in a benefit game sponsored by the Fraternal Order of Police. The game will be staged at Duquesne University.

Petey (Jersey) Seigle, former Buhl Club star, has deserted the game to devote his attention to refereeing. Siegel is handling plenty of games in Shenango Valley this winter.

The Y. M. H. A. Reserves, withdrawn from the Metropolitan League, are eager to arrange an independent schedule of games. Write Eugene Sarasky, Y. M. H. A., Pittsburgh.

Hattie Campbell, of the Fairmont Pirates, and Leona Cantwell, of the Goldenson Vanities, promise to stage a scoring duel next Wednesday when they meet in a benefit game. Miss Cantwell once scored 31 field goals in a game, while Miss Campbell rang up 24.

Saul Adler, former star center of the old Coffey Club, was a visitor in town yesterday, coming here from the South.

Paul Zehfuss takes his German Evangelical Church team to P. A. A. tomorrow night to meet Art Hyatt and his passers.

MEEHAN SIGNED

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—Chick Meehan, New York University coach, has been given a three-year contract. Official announcement will be made at the annual football banquet tomorrow night, it was reported today.

Basketball Rules Quiz

PLAY NO. 9.

What is the correct ruling?

ANSWER.

This covers another change in the 1930-31 rules. The penalty is a technical foul on Nicholson for leaving the circle instead of a violation. The rules provide, however, that if the player who remains in the circle legally taps the ball into the basket, the goal counts and the foul is not penalized.

Sport Vignettes

The Penn-Navy football game at Philadelphia last Saturday, a regularly scheduled contest, drew 60,000 fans, although the teams between them had just seven games . . . At the same time Colgate and N. Y. U., with a lot of ballyhoo, drew only 20,000 for their benefit game for the unemployed in New York and Carnegie Tech and W. & J., here, attracted less than 10,000 . . . Benefit games between Tech and Temple and Villanova and Washington State in Philadelphia previously also drew slim attendances and the Army-Navy game in New York next Saturday is shrieking for help to put it over the top . . . Meaning what? That sport is one thing and charity another?

Chalky Williamson, former Pitt star, who passed away the other day, suffered a lot in silence during his illness, which also killed one opportunity after another for him to advance in various lines . . . Only those of us who knew Chalky intimately were aware of his long and unsuccessful battle for that priceless jewel—health . . . Incidentally, Chalky, while an assistant coach at Pitt, was one of the first to hail Gibby Welch as a greater ball-carrier than Tom Davies, who was almost a contemporary of Chalky himself . . . Chalky, at quarterback, together with Davies and Welch at the halves and George McLaren at fullback, made up James J. Long's All-time Pitt eleven, selected for a contest conducted by the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph before the start of the present season.

Max Baer, the young California heavyweight star, who has scored 24 knockout victories in 27 bouts, now is in New York, preparing for his Eastern debut against Ernie Schaaf in Madison Square Garden, December 19 . . . They think a lot of Max out in California. One of the Coast managers recently passed through Pittsburgh and I asked him how he rated the young star . . . "He's so good," was the answer, "that if they matched him with Jack Sharkey I'd bet on Max to win." . . . Which is high praise, indeed, for a fellow who is just going out on the Big Time.—HARRY KECK.

CASEY COACH AT HARVARD

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Dec. 10.—(AP.)—Edward L. Casey, Harvard's all-America halfback in 1919, and backfield coach for the past two seasons, yesterday was promoted to the head coach's berth for the Crimson's 1931 football season.

He succeeds Arnold Horween, coach for the past five years. Horween's teams won 21 of their 40 games, including the last three clashes with Yale.

Casey's promotion will be officially announced at the Harvard football smoker at the Harvard Club, of Boston, on Friday night.

Arthur Sampson, now backfield coach at Columbia, will rejoin Casey here next fall as supervisor of the Crimson's ball carriers. Edward H. Bradford, who has been end coach for several seasons, will again act in that capacity and Walter A. Cleary, assistant under the retiring Duke Dunn, former Michigan line star, will return as line coach. He will be assisted by Benjamin H. Ticknor, 1930 varsity captain and all-America center. Victor P. Kennard has been reappointed kicking coach and Edward L. Farrell, the Harvard track coach, has again been named as football trainer.

Casey started his coaching career at Mount Union College at Alliance, O. He served there for two seasons.

STARS BATTLE IN CLEVELAND TONIGHT

By HARRY KECK,
Sports Editor.

The attention of the boxing world today is focused on Cleveland, where tonight the Cleveland News puts on its annual all-star Christmas Fund show in Public Hall, with a sell-out of the 12,000 seats assured and many Pittsburghers in attendance.

Paul Pirrone

Two former world champions will appear in the feature battles. They are Jackie Fields, erstwhile welterweight king, who boxes Paul Pirrone, of Cleveland, in the main bout, and Fidel La Barba, former flyweight champion and recent conqueror of Kid Chocolate, who boxes Eddie Shea, hard-hitting Italian featherweight contender, of Chicago, in the semi-final. In still another 10-rounder, Johnny Pair, of Cleveland, boxes Ray Miller, Chicago left-hook artist.

Mickey Cohen, of Cleveland, who boxes Jimmy Thomas in one of the bouts on Pittsburgh's Unemployment Fund benefit card at Motor Square Garden next Monday night, engages Ollie Bartlett, of Detroit, in the feature six-round preliminary, and, in two four-rounders, Harold Krill boxes Mike Keller and Martin Zunega meets Marshall Couette. Ringside patron tickets for the show sell for $15.

SHOW AT ALIQUIPPA

This also is the night of Ray Eberle's first show in the Rialto Theater, Aliquippa. He has Nick Polis, of Aliquippa, and Charley Tarzan, of Rochester, Pa., in the 10-round main bout and Bobby Belford against Frankie Porto, Irish McLamphy against Eddie Yarosz and Jack O'Brien against Mike Kelly in the six-round preliminaries.

Between Rounds

Johnny Sill, of Detroit, who boxes Moss Butch, of Oakland, in the semi-final to the Jackie Rodgers-Soldier Dombroski bout at the Moose Temple Friday night, is a stablemate of Dombroski, under the management of Benny Ray, and comes here highly touted. He claims the Italian bantamweight championship and scored victories in Europe over Spider Pladner and Johnny Hill, while, since he has been in the United States, he has boxed Jimmy Russo, Frankie Young twice, Pete Sanstol and Steve Rocco, among others.

Matchmaker Jules Beck, of Motor Square Garden, has completed his card for the benefit show for the unemployed, to be held next Monday night, by signing Young Rudy, of Charleroi, to box Ted Yarosz, undefeated welterweight, of Monaca, in the eight-round semi-final. K. O. Christner, Akron heavyweight, and George Panka, of Homestead, are in the main bout. Mickey Cohen, of Cleveland, and Jimmy Thomas, of the Hill, in the second bout, and Sammy O'Dell, of Akron, and Johnny Smackey, of Canonsburg, in the opener, O'Dell having beaten Smackey in a semi-final at the Meyers Bowl last summer.

Gerald Clements, of North Braddock, new featherweight champion of Western Pennsylvania, will be among the boxers on the amateur benefit card to be staged by the H. T. Little A. C., in Homestead Turner Hall next Tuesday night.

Promoter Jim McGirr, of McKeesport, has completed his card for tomorrow night's show, his first professional card in more than a month, by signing Don Frazier, Negro featherweight, of the Hill, to box Steve Senich, of Homestead, in his opening bout. He has Johnny Warner, of Clairton, boxing Joey Drazon, of Cincinnati, in the main bout and Nick Perlick, Clairton heavyweight, doing a comeback in the other half of the double windup with Frank Novak, of the North Side, Teddy Welch, of McKeesport, and Al Munro, Negro, of the Hill, box the second six-rounder.

Promoter Ammies Meyers, of the Moose Temple, is trying to match Tommy Crawley, of the South Side, and Andy Andrucci, of the East End, for a windup bout. Dan Gallagher, West End heavyweight, will be on the card at the Moose Friday night of next week.

Benny McArthurs, of McKeesport, suffered a badly swollen left ear in his bout with Frankie Chatterton at Franklin, Pa., last Friday night and will take a rest until it heals. Accordingly he has called off his bout with Arthur Neado, of Philadelphia, scheduled at Johnstown next Tuesday night.

The Herrera-Anderson show at Motor Square Garden last Monday night grossed more than $4,700, keeping up this arena's fine record for good gates this season.

Frankie Cawley will box Natie Brown and Mickey McFarland is paired with Willie Oster in preliminaries to the Young Stribling-Tuffy Griffiths and Jack Gagnon-Larry Johnson bouts at the Stadium in Chicago Friday night.

Young Guido, formerly of Sharon and Youngstown, now of Albany, N. Y., where he is boxing under the name of Count Earle Guido, wants to return here for bouts. He would like especially to box Buck McTiernan, whom he has met twice. Guido has boxed Irish Tommy Jordan, Clyde Hull, Eddie Dempsey, Enzo Fiermonte and Ricardo Alis, among others. Promoters may reach him at 178 Hamilton street, Albany, N. Y.

Baby Joe Gans boxes Andy Di Vodi at Los Angeles next Tuesday night.

Homer Ronan and Midget Mike O'Dowd are matched for a bout at Newark, O., on New Year's eve. Primo Carnera meets Reggie Meen at Albert Hall, London, next Tuesday night. Lew Massey boxes Bud Mangino and Nick Venore battles Harry (Kid) Ross in Philadelphia tomorrow night.

DREYFUSS OUT TO CUT HOMERS

By CHARLES J. DOYLE.

When Owner Barney Dreyfuss, of the Pirates, steps into the winter baseball arena this week to take a fling at unearned home runs, he will have several American League magnates in his corner, including Charles Comiskey, of the Chicago White Sox, and Clark Griffith, of the Washington Americans.

It is doubtful whether Dreyfuss will get anywhere with his proposal, which, if accepted, would refuse home-run classification to all drives leaving the playing field at any point under 300 feet. Legislation of such a nature would revolutionize the home-run business, because some of the parks permit homers of a ridiculous nature.

MOGULS ASLEEP AT SWITCH

Dreyfuss urges a zoning plan for all parks that are less than 300 feet long at the foul lines; in other words, he would either have screens erected that would keep short drives in play or he would have the fluke homers classified as shorter hits where there were no screens.

Years ago this writer conducted a newspaper campaign against the cheap homers that could not but bring harm to the game. I found hundreds like Dreyfuss who wanted action in the furtherance of any plan to do away with the flukes that often ruined otherwise fine ball games. But the men who had the power to act refused to act toward the end now sponsored by the Pittsburgh magnate.

MANY JOKE FENCES

Homers in parks like the Polo Grounds, New York; Baker Bowl, Philadelphia; Wrigley Field, Chicago; Sportsmen's Park, St. Louis, and League Park, Cleveland, have become almost as common, and as uninteresting, as foul balls. A real home run inside park with the attendant running, throwing and general din is truly one of the game's glories, and this sort of a round-tripper has no relation to the popups that fall over the short fences in the parks mentioned.

And while on the subject mentioned, it is timely to note that Shibe Park, home of the Athletics, is anything but a spacious field. The low drives that fall across the short right field fence in this field are a joke on the fair name of the sport.

Scott High Beaten By Greensburg Five

Scott High, one of the contestants in the W. P. I. A. L. series last winter, was the first victim of Greensburg passers last night when it dropped a 31-26 decision to the Westmoreland countians on the latter's floor.

New Kensington defeated Duquesne, 21-14, at New Kensington; Etna downed Springdale, 19-9, at Springdale; Braddock defeated an old rival in Swissvale, 18-14, while Leechburg was an easy winner over Arnold, 31-20. The line-up of the Scott-Greensburg game:

Greensburg—31.		Scott—26.
Page	F.	Tomko
Anderson	F.	Killar
Hibbs	C.	Bache
Strasser	G.	Robberick
J. Shaffer	G.	Kurtilus

Score by periods:

Greensburg	8	6	6	1—31
Scott	1	6	6	3—26

Field goals—Anderson 3, Hibbs 3, Page 2, Strasser, Brooks 2, Wright 2, Tomko 2, Killar 3, Bache 2, Robberick, Kurtilus 2, Ferguson. Foul goals—Scott, 4 out of 13; Greensburg, 5 out of 12. Referee—Gensamer, New Kensington.

YUDICKY ELECTED

HANOVER, N. H., Dec. 10.—Stanley Yudicky, an end, was elected captain of the Dartmouth football team for 1931, it was announced here yesterday.

DUKES ELECT FERRERA GRID CAPTAIN

By JESS CARVER.

Little Mike Ferrera, the gift of Erie to the Duquesne University football squad, today is receiving the congratulations of his team and classmates following his election last night to the captaincy of the Duke varsity for 1931.

The election of Ferrera was announced at the annual football banquet, tendered the varsity and freshman squads by the Duquesne Alumni Association at the William Penn Hotel ballroom. The affair was very well attended. Lou Little, head coach of football at Columbia University, was the principal speaker and acquitted himself nobly from the speaker's stand as his football teams have on the gridiron, and as he did himself, when he was an all-America back at the University of Pennsylvania in 1916 and 1919.

CAPTAIN IS GUARD

Ferrera is a guard, weighs about 165 pounds and is five feet six inches in height. He is a senior in the school of accounts, and is the third captain in a row to be elected from that division of the university.

Twenty-six members of this year's squad were awarded varsity letters and taken into Duquesne's Monogram Club. These included Ganzy Benedict and Clark, co-captains of the '30 eleven; Lally, Ferrera, Kemp, O'Donnell, McCarthy, Burns, Kovalcheck, Silverstein, Amann, DeCarbo, Folio, Donahue, Venneri, Pratt, Abele, Murphy, Wynosky, Kelleher, Devenney, Sullivan, Pawlina, Trambley, Cristina and Todd and Student Manager Stafford.

John Egan, dean of the Duquesne Law School, carried the ball very ably as toastmaster. Beside Coach Little, J. L. Marks, head master at Kiski School; Elmer Layden, head coach at Duquesne, and Very Rev. Father M. H. Hehir, retiring president of the university, spoke.

HONOR WILLIAMSON

Head Master Marks, during his address, asked that the entire assembly stand in silent tribute for Guy M. (Chalky) Williamson, former Pitt quarterback star and this fall football coach at Kiski, who died suddenly Monday afternoon.

In his fine address, Coach Little stressed the importance of character and citizenship building, giving football as a mighty aid. He also pleaded for keener interpretation of the rules of the game by the officials, touching lightly on ways and means of so doing.

The Tipoff

Those who still have head and pocketbook aches after wagering on Southern California against Notre Dame last Saturday and wish to recoup by getting on the short end of a bet might be wise to grab onto the Navy against Army in their game in New York this week.

The Army spent the entire fall pointing for Notre Dame. I never saw a team let down more completely than the Cadets did on the way back East after losing that tough one at Soldier Field. It is going to be very very difficult for Maj. Sasse to bring the boys back again, especially to the height they are going to have to reach to beat a team like the Middies.

You will recall that a year ago, Navy came to the fore with an unstoppable rush late in the season, climaxing a great comeback effort by defeating powerful Dartmouth in Baltimore, when Dartmouth ruled an almost prohibitive favorite. The Sailors are set for Army, and the decisive way in which they crushed Penn last week will give 'em just the needed confidence. The Army, I'm afraid, will not be right mentally.

A back who is being almost entirely overlooked when it comes to picking all-America teams is this chap Jarrett, of North Dakota. Jarrett starred in both his appearances in the East, playing a whale of a game against Army and running over Duquesne here in that night game at Forbes Field. He is as sweet a running back as these wavering eyes glimpsed all season, excepting, of course, the great Marchy Schwartz.

Funeral services for Guy Mowrey (Chalky) Williamson, former Pitt coach and star, will be held in Samson's Funeral Parlors, Neville street, at 2:30 tomorrow afternoon.

The local chapter of the Eastern Association of Intercollegiate Football Referees was highly honored when one of its members, Dexter Very, was selected to referee the coming Army-Navy game. Dex has had one of the best schedules of any official in the country this year.

Long's Sport Comment

world featherweight championship, and a victory for the Cuban Negro is looked for by the great majority of fistic fans, Benny Leonard believes Battalino will have a good chance to win if he adopts the right plan of battle.

The former lightweight king expresses the opinion that the white fighter can beat Chocolate by sticking to body-fighting, holding that few fighters, unless they are unusually constituted physically, can endure a great deal of body-pounding without showing the effects of it.

Benny Leonard

"THE WONDER OF it all is that there aren't more efficient body punchers today," says Leonard. "As a matter of fact I can't think of any particular fighter who is dreaded for his ability to hit below the Adam's apple. Most scrappers nowadays think the only way to beat an opponent is socking him on the whiskers as hard and as often as possible. There were a lot of good body punchers in my time. Lew Tendler, for instance, was one of the hardest and most accurate body punchers I've ever seen. What he would have done to the so-calld lightweight stars of today would have been a crime. Fighters who can think undrstand that body punching is not only astonishingly effective, but is a mighty wise weapon in other ways. The body offers a much larger target than the chin, and body wallops will take the fight out of a fellow more quickly than raps about the head that do not carry knockout force."

Discarding the fire chief's uniform, which he had worn for 33 years, S. Y. McFarland, of Sewickley, is now wearing a borough patrolman's uniform.

McFarland, who is 65, and resides at 330 Chestnut street, Sewickley, was the honor guest at a banquet given by the Sewickley Volunteer Fire Company in the Municipal Building.

Due to his age, Mr. McFarland retired as fire chief December 1, after serving in that capacity since 1897. He joined the volunteers in 1896, and was elected chief the next year. From 1920 to 1927, he had also held the chief of police job.

The speakers at the dinner included James C. Chaplin, president of the Colonial Trust Company of Pittsburgh, and the president of the borough council; borough officials and members of the Sewickley fire company. The retired chief was presented with a fireman's gold badge. He has been appointed a member of the police department.

J. C. Doughty was elected fire chief in place of McFarland.

DAVIS QUIZZED ON DRY STAND

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 10.—(AP.)—Robert K. Cassatt, chairman of the Pennsylvania division of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, made public a letter he had sent to Senator James J. Davis, asking him three questions relating to the federal prohibition amendment.

Davis was asked whether he favored the retention or repeal of the amendment, whether he considered the regulation of the sale of intoxicants was a proper function of the national government or of the states, and whether he would vote, as a senator, in favor of a resolution proposing to the people for their decision the question of retention or repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment.

SEEKS TEACHER FOR ESKIMOS

WORCESTER, Mass., Dec. 10.—(AP.)—Donald B. Macmillan, Arctic explorer, in a talk at Worcester Academy, stated that when his good ship Bowdoin threads its way through bergs and floes on its way to the Arctic wastes next June, it will have on board a woman school teacher, yet to be selected. She will be taken north to fill a vacancy in his second Labrador school house, where she will teach Eskimo children to read and write English.

There are 18 applicants to date. Macmillan says the one chosen must have a real desire to fare forth into a region where an educated white woman is a rarity. A daughter of a German missionary now is teaching a class of 40 fur-clad Eskimo children in Labrador.

BUSES OUST CARS ON HILLTOP LINE

SIDEWALKS of PITTSBURGH

By William Place

A Center avenue clothes store was robbed a few nights ago and a dozen suits stolen. The next day the owner capitalized the robbery by hanging this sign outside his shop:

"EVEN BURGLARS LIKE OUR CLOTHES."

Bill Casey, the Blawnox steel man of Sharpsburg, tells about the five men who recently went to a nearby resort for a rest. Most of the time they spent in the hotel lobby, drinking mineral water and playing hearts or rum.

There was one ritual that was strictly observed. Each night, an hour or so before retiring, they had adjourned to one of their rooms and enjoyed a few round of straight shots, as they say.

One night they went to Smith's room, the next to Jones', the next to Brown's and so forth. On the fifth night it was the Squire's turn to be host.

But the Squire lacked the wherewithal, so he set out for a physician's office.

"Doctor," he lied, "I have a cold and it's settled in my throat."

"That's too bad," the doctor sympathized. "Let me see."

The doctor gave him a prescription. The squire had it filled at the drugstore and hurried back to his friends, forgetting the dose of iodine in his success.

The Squire poured a drink for everybody. But when he tried to swallow his own he discovered that the iodine had so scorched his throat he couldn't touch the stuff.

The friends finished the pint.

The Swissvale Hunting Club maintains quarters in Clearfield County. Through the summer the members look forward to the winter spell when they are entitled to take to the wilds and bring down a flock of deer. This season a dozen members hied to Clearfield at first opportunity.

10 MINUTES 1 DEER!

Hospitable, they took along a dozen guests. They came back the other day, according to one of them, Jonn Milligan, with four deer—all shot by the guests.

Another hunting story: New to deer-hunting, John Beaveis, of Brookline, made extensive preparations for this week's trip to Cameron County. A new rifle, a new hunting outfit, a week's vacation. He was in the woods 10 minutes when he shot his deer. He packed up and came home.

The sequel has occurred to the story of the goose which was raffled off in a speakeasy and won by an ice man who wasn't able to claim it because his beat had been changed. The speakeasy proprietor finally tired of feeding the goose, took it home and had it for dinner. Just as things happen in books, the ice man learned of this destruction and was angered. The speakeasy man was so anxious to make amends that he bought another goose and delivered it to the ice man's home, some 20 miles distant. Unless something else happens, that will be the end of the goose story.

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

Been an awful lot in the papers lately about Russia. Funny thing about human nature. When we ain't feeling so good themselves we always want to read about somebody that is worse off then they are. That was a terrible trick that fellow Stalin played on those eight convicted men. They had confessed, thinking they would be hung, and put out of their misery. Now he tells 'em they got to live, but in Russia Not changing the subject, but somebody was just telling us that Congress was in session. We certainly hope that rumor is unfounded. Yours,

W. VA. MINE CHIEF SEES RECOVERY

Avoid 'Peak,' Seek Steady Output, He Tells Operators Gathered at 44th Session

Asserting the coal industry was showing an upward trend, retiring President Robert M. Lambie, chief of the West Virginia Department of Mines, today told the opening session of the Coal Mining Institute of America that the improvement should be gradual, with avoidance of peak business.

Several hundred representatives of the coal industry were expected to be in attendance during the forty-fourth annual meeting which continues through Friday at the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce auditorium. A banquet tonight in McCreery's dining room will be among the features.

J. W. Paul, of the local U. S. Bureau of Mines, was named president at the morning session that opened with routine organization business. Other officers announced were: Vice-president, F. B. Dunbar, J. J. Forbes and E. A. Holbrook, all of Pittsburgh; secretary-treasurer, George W. Grove, Pittsburgh; and managing directors, F. E. Bedale, Fairmont; Mathew Blair, California, Pa.; C. W. Gibbs, Harwick; Silas S. Hall, Connellsville; Richard Maize, Uniontown; C. W. Pollock, Curtisville; John Ira Thomas, Harrisburg; and George S. McCaa, W. N. Rigg and L. E. Young, Pittsburgh.

Preceding two discussions led by J. T. Ryan, Pittsburgh, and Mr. Hall, Lambie addressed the members. He said:

"There is no question but that the industry is on the upward trend. But any peak is to be avoided. Steady production is the most desired because irregular operation of a mine is costly. This operation increases the hazards of mining, too. In our state, production is off 8,000,000 tons, but we expect to regain it during the next year."

A question box session was held during the afternoon, led by Rush Holser, of Harrisburg, and motion pictures of underground and surface operations. J. J. Forbes was chairman.

HEY, IT'S A STOLEN AUTOMOBILE!

FRANK SFARA DEMONSTRATING THE LIGHT THAT FLASHES IF SOMEONE STEALS HIS CAR!

If Mr. Sfara, 3924 Fifth avenue, is driving his own car, all's well. But if someone else drives it, the extra light you see shows brightly the word "Stolen," which is otherwise invisible.

AUTO PATENT SIGNALS THEFT

The efficiency of the police is to be tested this week when Frank Sfara, a mechanic in his own garage, of 3924 Fifth avenue, demonstrates his new stolen car sign invention. Sfara has made application for a patent on a stop light device that will prevent the stealing of cars.

The invention is a light which can be turned on when the owner leaves the car. If anyone should attempt to steal the automobile and start away with it, the first application of the foot-brake will flash a light which is attached to the rear of the car. The light will read "stolen" in blue-green letters that are easily seen at a distance.

The light is controlled by a locked switch which the owner can open any time that he leaves the car. Sfara plans a downtown demonstration of the appliance.

SAME FARE AS NOW PROPOSED

Trolley Type Vehicles May Be Used Here for First Time on Car Route No. 33

Either trolley or gasoline buses will be used on Mt. Washington route No. 33 of the Pittsburgh Railways when it is abandoned. The fare will be the same as charged on the street cars, Vice President Thomas Fitzgerald announced today.

Substitution of trolley buses for cars on this line would be the first time the company has employed them within the city of Pittsburgh.

It was reported to Council recently the company would ask permission to abandon the Mt. Washington route, in order to be relieved of the payment of about $72,000, the company's share for street improvements to be made in that section, in accordance with city plans for completion of the Sawmill Run boulevard hookup.

The company is planning an application to the Public Service Commission to substitute buses on the line indicated.

Brentwood Bus Fight Tactics Protested

D. L. Feick, president of the Brentwood Motor Coach Company, hinted yesterday at a Public Service Commission hearing that the Pittsburgh Motor Coach Company was attempting to strangle his motor bus business in Brentwood. Feick took the stand before Examiner W. E. Best, of the Public Service Commission, to protest against the application of the Pittsburgh Motor Coach Company for a certificate to operate from downtown Pittsburgh, through Brentwood to Bettis Field. Feick some weeks ago made application to the commission for a certificate to carry passengers from Pittsburgh to Brentwood for 20 cents cash and 15 cents by token.

The Pittsburgh Motor Coach Company would use parlor coach buses and charge 25 cents for a ride to the eastern terminus of Brentwood on Sundays, holidays and special occasions, and eventually all the time, or when the airports are completed, to which program Feick objects.

Feick said that the Pittsburgh Railways Company refused to run the street cars into Brentwood and would not put on buses, and he finally put them on.

Shippers Here Won Freight Load Fight 55 Years Ago

A copy of the Pittsburgh Telegraph of that date, the property of J. A. Beck, 1808 Penn avenue, tells of a meeting in which the Pennsylvania Railroad acceded to the demands of the chamber and increased the maximum weight to be shipped in freight cars from 22,000 to 24,000 pounds. The paper says members of the Chamber of Commerce gave three cheers for Col. T. A. Scott, president of the railroad, who sent the good news of the increased load.

The paper was one of the predecessors, in direct line, of the Sun-Telegraph and the copy is in a fine state of preservation after 55 years.

SAYS BYRD MEN ATE ROYALLY

Frozen wastes of the Antarctic didn't mean lack of homecooked meals for the 42 men who went on the ice with Commander Richard E. Byrd, and, according to George W. Tennant, of Manistee, Mich., chief steward and cook on the expedition, the staff had everything from "soup to nuts."

Byrd carried more than 20 tons of food stuffs for his 80 men, 38 of whom remained on the ship at New Zealand, Tennant revealed on a visit here today. Tennant, who also journeyed with Byrd to the North Polar regions and prepared the food for the explorer's Atlantic flight, spoke at the Congress of Women's Clubs. He was to speak tonight at the Managers' Beneficial Association of the Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company at the organization's dinner in Moose Temple.

KLINE APPROVES LAVERY OUSTING

Dismissal of Precinct Detective Joseph (Bozo) Lavery, by the Police Trial Board on a charge of making insulting remarks to Police Supt. Peter P. Walsh, today stood approved by Mayor Charles H. Kline, in a message to the superintendent.

Sergt. Russell Smythe, office attendant for Walsh, testified that several weeks ago Lavery met him in front of the postoffice and demanded that he take Lavery's badge and keys and hand them to "that guy" Walsh. Lavery was also accused of having insulted Walsh personally.

Lavery denied this, saying he was in Monongahela the day he is alleged to have accosted Smythe.

Mayor Kline also approved the following findings: Patrolman Claire Cowell, traffic division, dismissal; Patrolman William Simmons, Forty-third street station, eight days suspension, and Patrolman John Stack, No. 11 station, 30 days suspension.

WILL QUIZ GIRL ON KIDNAPING

Anna Shellmick, 18, of Tarentum, reported kidnaped Sunday night, today was to be questioned by county detectives at the Tarentum police station, where she has been confined since her arrest yesterday. She was found at the home of friends at 410 West Eighth avenue, Tarentum, according to police.

The girl disappeared when an alleged stranger attacked Steven Bayza, of Springdale, while the pair were in an automobile in River avenue, Brackenridge. Bayza told police he was attacked by the man and had to be given treatment by a physician.

The girl told police and detectives that it was a white man who took the machine, and that he ordered her out of the car a short time later and ordered her under threats not to notify police. She claimed she was afraid to spread an alarm. She denied, as police have contended, that Bayza had been "framed," those who questioned her said.

E. M'KEESPORT LOSES 2 POLICE

East McKeesport was without the services today of Patrolman James K. Daugherty and Special Officer Clifford J. Miller, the former having presented his resignation and the latter discharged at a meeting of Borough Council last night.

Daugherty sent his resignation rather than face charges that, although fully armed, according to Burgess John T. Small, he failed to interfere when alleged friends of Chal Topley, of Greensburg avenue, East McKeesport, beat Miller.

Miller, according to Small, became embroiled with Topley when the special officer accompanied Daugherty and Constable G. P. Mellon to Turtle Creek Hill, Lincoln highway, after receiving word that Topley's car had been ditched. Miller was said to have bested Topley in the fight, according to the burgess' account.

The alleged attack on Miller occurred after Miller returned to the borough, Small reported.

CITY HOLDS UP RELIEF FUNDS

A delay of several days before making additional appropriations for emergency relief has been agreed upon by Mayor Charles H. Kline and members of Council, according to statements made at a meeting of that body yesterday.

The delay will permit the Department of Public Welfare to check on the amount expended to date from the $100,000 emergency appropriation made several weeks ago. Only a few thousand dollars remain in that fund. All expenditures were halted yesterday.

There is a possibility that all additional appropriations will be held until they are put into next year's budget. An increase of $50,000 in the City Home and Hospital at Mayview appropriation is forecast by increased demands, the population there having increased 1,000 in the last month or so.

M'KEESPORT HOLDS PARADE

The annual pre-Christmas parade was held yesterday under the auspices of the merchants' division of the McKeesport Chamber of Commerce. The affair scheduled for last Saturday night was postponed on account of the heavy rain.

All of the city's schools were dismissed, and thousands of school children with their parents witnessed the procession.

More than 50 floats, each one representing a nursery rhyme, brought merriment to the youngsters. There were a dozen bands in line.

All of the leading merchants were represented. The high school band, composed of boys and girls, made a striking appearance. The Corp. Carl A. Everett Post No. 514, Veterans of Foreign Wars, McKeesport, and the Ladies' Auxiliary Bugle and Drum Corps of the post took on a gala aspect.

JURIST'S RITES TOMORROW

Judges throughout the state and city and county officials will attend funeral services for Judge Thomas J. Ford tomorrow afternoon. Judge Ford, for years a Common Pleas Court judge in Allegheny County, died Monday afternoon in his home after a lingering illness which caused him to retire from the bench last August.

The services will be held in his home in Delafield road, Aspinwall, at 3 o'clock. Burial, in Greenwood Cemetery, near Sharpsburg, Friday morning, will be private.

Judge Ford persevered in his duties for some time after his health failed, although urged by every other judge to take a rest, Presiding Judge James R. Macfarlane said in a eulogy in Common Pleas Court late yesterday. The full bench assembled in honor of the jurist and court was adjourned in respect to his memory.

Judge Macfarlane commented that uJdge Ford's death was the fourth among active and recently retired judges of Common Pleas Court this year. No judge was more diligent than Judge Ford and he was possessed of singular ability, Judge Macfarlane declared.

Wild Yeast Made Beer of Ancients Impure

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—(AP.)—Meryet-Amun's beer, which foamed in 1440 B. C., was doubtless the first made with yeast that could be called pure, according to the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

Back in 1400 B. C., the yeast used was "a wild organism full of impurities," the museum's Egyptian expedition explained, and it wasn't until Queen Meryet-Anun's brewers got busy that a pure yeast was developed.

The remarks were occasioned by discovery of yeast sediment in a beer jar in the queen's tomb.

OPPOSE LARGE NAVAL COSTS

A petition asking Congress not to spend large amounts of money for naval armament, and advocating the entrance of the United States into the League Court, was passed at a meeting yesterday of the Pittsburgh Presbytery in the first Presbyterian Church, Coraopolis. The resolution asking support of the court was sent to Senators David A. Reed and James J. Davis.

The resolution on naval appropriations was presented by the Rev. Dr. George W. Shelton, of the Second Church, Pittsburgh.

IDLE, INJURED, MAN ENDS LIFE

Despondency over unemployment and a head injury inflicted by thugs were believed today by deputy coroners to have prompted Alex Thomas, 49, of 840 Woodstock avenue, to end his life in his home late yesterday.

Only a few minutes before Thomas fired a bullet into his head, he and his 12-year-old daughter, Mary, talked about Christmas. Mary asked:

"What are you going to give me for Christmas, Daddy?"

The father smiled, and walked into another room. A moment later a shot was heard. Mary ran into the room and found him dead, with a revolver at his side, according to the coroner's report.

Last July Thomas' skull was fractured by three Negro thugs. For weeks he was confined in the Passavant Hospital. Members of his family said he had not been normal since the attack, and his unemployment aggravated his condition.

Stair Fall Fatal For Braddock Man

Wladyslaw Zablocki, 40, of 535 Washington street, Braddock, died last night in Braddock General Hospital from a fractured skull suffered November 11 when he fell down the stairs in a building in Fifth street, Rankin, according to the coroner's report.

Blaze Wrecks Home In Family's Absence

While Benjamin Schaffer was away on a hunting trip, and his wife and children were visiting relatives, fire destroyed their 11-room home in the Big Sewickley Creek road, two and one-half miles from Ambridge, early today. The Ambridge fire department answered an alarm, but was unable to give assistance owing to lack of water. The loss was estimated at $15,000 by firemen.

what we call BIG business

THE word "big" applied to a business means the same as when applied to a man . . . A big business man may be small in stature. A big business may be small in the amount of money handled.

What we call a big business is one that is sound financially, is profitable and, above all, is building for the future . . . A growing business is "big business" regardless of its present volume.

The Farmers Deposit National Bank is the bank which serves business of this dependable kind. And because it has dealt with growing concerns and helped them in their development, it has grown to be a big bank.

The financial services of the Farmers Bank have in many cases been an important factor in the development of "big business".

A SAVINGS DEPARTMENT WITH A RECORD

Farmers Bank savings depositors have received interest totalling $7,511,898. You may open a savings account with any small amount. It will draw interest at 4 percent, from the day of your first deposit, and be credited to your account every six months . . . Most of our savings accounts have been opened by depositors with some specific purpose in mind—the paying off of a mortgage; the purchase of furniture for the home; the education of a child; a trip abroad; or some other cherished desire which has at last been made possible by systematic savings. We invite you to come in and talk over with us the many possibilities that savings can realize.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Stage Group Presents Comedy

Last night was a gala one for society folks interested in the drama, for the Stage and Play Society, that interesting organization of society folks, gave its opening play of the season in the new Twentieth Century Club. The play was Noel Coward's "Hay Fever."

Stage and Play performances always attract smartly gowned audiences, but last night the throngs at the play were scintillating.

And the auditorium was so crowded that chairs had to be placed in the aisles.

And after the play the cast entertained friends at a supper and dance at the Pittsburgh Golf Club. In the cast were Mrs. Edward J. House, Mrs. Wilmer Marshall Jacoby, Mrs. Jacob S. Payton, Mary Shiras, Mrs. Wallace Hurtie Rowe, Jr., Joseph Kuntz, Jr., Fielder Clark, Harold Geoghegan and George P. Bassett III.

And adding a further note of festivity to the opening night was a dinner-dance given in the Twentieth Century Club before the play. Covers were laid for over 300 guests. And by the way, the Twentieth Century Club will give dinner dances again, one to precede the Yale Glee Club concert on December 27, and one before the Williams College Cap and Bells dramatic production on December 29.

TECH TO STAGE TRAGEDY

Written originally as a starring vehicle for the late Sarah Bernhardt, the tragedy, "La Princesse Lointaine," by Edmond Rostand, will be staged tonight in the Carnegie Tech Little Theater as a unique experiment in constructivist drama by students of the dramatic arts department.

Directed by Boris Glagolin, Russian constructivist, the theme portrays unique theater business in modern acting and direction, despite the twelfth century motif of Old Russia.

Several scenes are revolutionary, at least as far as the American theater is concerned. In one scene where Princess Lointaine bathes on the stage the action is accomplished, figuratively, without the first necessity of disrobing. Laths, about two inches wide, spring up from the stage floor in front of the actress. These, according to Glagolin, represent jets of water.

CLEVER HANDWORK ADORNS MANY NEW EVENING FROCKS

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, Dec. 10.—Many of the best evening frocks have had their trimming trimmed. A wise economy move, because the manipulation of the material of the frock is the finest way of obtaining ornamentation. Superimposed trimming can never bestow quite the same air as can pin-tucks, sunbursts or pleats. The fine handwork necessary for this form of ornamentation, the line it gives the frock, the essential simplicity of it, is all that is necessary to create a model that is essentially worthwhile and one that will not pall no matter how many times it has to face the night air. It is not as a rule wise to purchase a frock that takes the eye at first sight, for such frocks cannot be worn many times throughout the season, unless the wearer be one of those brave souls that care not how often a dress is worn, nor how many times or seasons they are admired in it.

* * *

WE HAVE SENT YOU a sketch that will, we hope, adequately convey to you the charm of a frock that relies upon itself for adornment. This interesting model is from Suzanne Talbot and is of green chiffon in a deep emerald shade. The close-fitting bodice and top of each flounce tier are laid in diagonal pin-tucks. These terminate in loose pleats of the same width. The even-edged skirt just clears the instep, an ideal hemline for a frock of this type. The only extra ornamentation is supplied by a heavy jewelled and galalith belt in shades of green-black and gold which marks the waistline.

* * *

THE OTHER SKETCH shows a frock by Lyolene, which manages to encompass many essential virtues that a good frock should possess. For it is simple, practical, yet exceedingly smart. It is interesting, too, for it introduces our old school-days friend, navy blue serge. This material is used for the bolero bodice and the straight skirt with a single pleat at the side. A touch of color is introduced by the use of white ottoman silk which makes the flat collar, jabot also the sleeve frills. A wide brush belt of red suede with a huge silver buckle adds the final touch of color and smartness to this frock.

TELL IT TO SALLY

By SALLY MARTIN

Should a Wife Endure Her Hubby's 'Cheapness?'

Does your husband kid the waitresses?

Otherwise he's a Grand Guy—faithful, honest, kind—

But why does he have to goggle at every pretty ankle—and glad-hand every pretty hasher?

"It's all so cheap!" she cries. "I can't endure it!"

And with that she starts plenty of argument.

Should she accept his "silliness with women" as she accepts his awful taste in suits and socks? Should she say to herself—"He's just a little boy. I wish he were older. I wish he cared for his own dignity and mine. But I love him, anyway. And I'll stick by him through hell 'n' high-water, even if I would like to smack him for a goal!"

Husband's Cheapness

Should a wife say that—or do that—when her Hero becomes a snickering, simpering smart-alec? Or shall she stage a battle? Or let her love sour to loathing and contempt?

Read this—then mark your ballot.

"Dear Sally—

"Please will you help me? At least I feel that you will understand, and sympathize with me. Maybe you'll think I'm foolish to feel the way I do, but I just can't help it.

"It's my husband. He is really a wonderful fellow, and we do love each other, and we are happy . . . divinely happy—except for one thing. But for it, he is perfect, and life is almost like another world since I married him.

"But he will be cheap . . . cheap with himself. He will 'kid' a waitress. He will glance through the windows of the office next door, and flirt. He will pretend to fall out of the car, if he sees a woman happen to get her skirt up above her knees. He thinks he's being very 'cute' and funny. But to me it is all a horror of cheapness. He will pick up a girl on the way home from work—especially if he feels that she is 'not the sort' to be picked up easily.

Wife Humiliated

"He doesn't hide these things from me. He always tells me about them, and laughs like it was a big joke—while he pats me on the back and tells the boys what a 'great gal' I am, and how I never cramp his style.

"He is the envy of all the men we know, who sigh and wish out loud that they 'had a wife like that' . . . 'Such a good scout,' and so forth. But I hate it . . . I loathe it. I feel almost, sometimes, as if I were going to burst. It's so trashy . . . So cheap . . . So silly.

"If he really fell in love with someone else . . . had a grand, glorious affair with her . . . that would be real at least, and I could say 'S'all right, ole kid! I gotcha! I understand!' But I honestly don't believe he'd ever do that. I'm sure he wouldn't cheat . . . not in the big things. But why, why can't he be dignified and fine in the little things? After all, they do mean so much, don't you think?

"When I go into a restaurant with him, and all the waitresses wink, and stand around talking about what he said last time, and what they said . . . or smirk, as much as to say: 'Oh, the wife is with you today! I had better lay off and keep quiet' . . . well, I just can't hardly stand it. I hate it! I hate it! And I can't make him understand how I hate it . . . or why.

"Maybe you think I'm wrong, but I have ideals. Ideals of fineness and dignity . . . and that my husband should be classed as a cheap josher . . . that he would be the sort to sit on a sandwich stool and hand the girl behind the counter a 'line' . . . such schoolboy, cheap traveling man stuff! It hurts me till I could scream.

"It humiliates me before other people, who don't understand him like I do. It makes them think he is a cheater . . . a fellow ready for any shoddy chance . . . and that I'm a gullible fool. I have to keep saying 'Listen! He acts like that, but I would bank my bottom dollar on him!'—only to see them smile knowingly.

Husband Surprised

"So today I laid down the law to him. And he was astounded. All he could think of was that I had suddenly become insanely jealous. He didn't get what I meant at all. I couldn't make him see that his clowning hurts my pride and makes me ashamed.

"What shall I do? I simply will not be humiliated and constantly embarrassed by having all the waitresses in town talking about him. I know how they talk. I have heard them standing around in groups, giving you some man's history backwards and forwards. And we're well known too. That makes it worse. And to think that my husband should be classed like that! It's disgusting!

"Don't you think so? Or am I wrong. S'up to you, Sally. Do you think I should try to get used to it? Or try to change him? RIETTE."

Well, how about it, Gang?

Personally, he sounds to me like a good egg even if he is a little underdone . . . but maybe I'm wrong.

Have you ever had—or been—a husband like that? If so, what did you do about it?

How to Keep Well

Rickets Is Rare in Out-Door Children

DR. COPELAND

On a recent tour I inspected some public beaches. It was with great joy that I watched the youngsters romping on the beach. Their little bodies were scantily covered by clothing. Almost every part was exposed to the rays of the sun.

How different the picture was years ago. Children were advised not to play in the sun for fear of becoming "overheated." As for the attire, the mothers of that day would have been shocked by such scanty clothing as is now the vogue.

When you and I were children, we were subjected to that terrible ordeal, taking the annual "spring tonic." Usually this consisted of some form of cod liver oil. It has long been known that cod liver oil given to children would stimulate growth. Just why, we didn't know.

Rickets is a disease of modern life. It was unknown to our ancestors, and is not prevalent today among people who enjoy sunshine and outdoor living. It is usually spoken of as a disease of faulty diet.

A diet lacking vitamin D will produce rickets. Yet a deficiency of vitamin D, if there is an abundance of sunlight, will not produce the disease. It is apparent that both these factors are important in the prevention of rickets.

As a result of our modern ways of living, rickets may easily be acquired. Its prevalence in children is common, and only within recent years has it been on the decline.

It is an ailment most common in children under 2 years of age. It may occur in older children as well as in adults. It is 10 times more prevalent in artificially fed infants, although it occasionally occurs in breast-fed infants.

Children living in dark homes, with no sunlight, as in the city tenement houses, are more prone to develop rickets. I have seen terrible cases in the slums of Europe.

Babies that sleep poorly and are restless, should be suspected of rickets. A more definite sign is the tossing and moving of the head upon the pillow, a habit which soon rubs off the hair from the back of the head.

Children with rickets learn to walk at a late stage. Their muscles and bones are extremely weak and cannot support the body. They do not play well with other children, and are backward in their general development.

Bowed legs or knock-knees soon develop because of the muscular and bony weakness. The muscles of the abdomen are likely to relax, giving the child the so-called "pot-belly." These children, in addition to growth retardation, are anemic and extremely nervous.

Where rickets exists, or there is a tendency toward it, cod liver oil should be given. As a preventive, rather than as a curative measure, exposure to the direct rays of the sun should be encouraged. Infants should not be shaded from the sun, but should be reasonably exposed to the sun. All children should be encouraged to play as much as possible in the sunlight.

Household Hints

Lemon juice added to the rinse water will give a lovely tint to blond hair.

A curtain that does not hang straight can mar the charm of an entire room. It looks untidy, and inartistic. But a curtain will always hang straight if the selvedge is cut off and a narrow hem sewn on in its stead.

It means to do your Christmas shopping and Christmas mailing with consideration and care for those who must handle the holiday rush.

Know what you want to buy, what you want to pay, and have even change as often as possible. Carry all small bundles.

Love's Reawakening

Madge Resumes Task of Arranging for Mary's Party

The tenseness of Dicky's tone made me change the sentence I had begun concerning Philip Veritzen. I had meant to say, "Oh! I wish Phil Veritzen could be made to see reason!" But with the remembrance of Lillian's comment that I alone had any influence over my employer, I dared not finish the sentence as I had intended. I quickly substituted a far different ending, but I salved my conscience with the thought that it was no conscious hypocrisy but simply the oral utterance of an irritated thought I had cherished ever since I knew of the great man's espionage upon Mary.

I wish Phil Veritzen could be boiled in oil," I said with a vindictiveness which I did not have to feign.

Dicky laughed, and I wondered if I fancied a note of relief in his mirth.

"Bring on your kettle, the oil and the fire," he said. "I'll be delighted to oversee the operation."

I laughed weakly with the sense of a danger skirted. I felt that I simply could not have endured one of Dicky's scenes as a climax to the nerve-racking experience through which Lillian and Mary and I had passed. But when my Peter Pan laughs with real amusement, as he was doing now, his anger has been effectively banished.

He did not speak again until we had reached the hotel. When he had eased the car into a vacant place at the curb, he slipped his arm around me fondly, impetuously.

"May I say, 'Sorry, sorry' now for my rudeness over the 'phone this afternoon. Honestly, I didn't realize how what I said sounded."

He bent his head toward me, but I whispered, "Look out!" and he raised his head to see Purnell coming toward us, his face bearing his usual welcoming grin.

"Yes, please do." Dicky handed him the keys and a tip and Purnell bent nearly double as we passed him.

"I don't think Purnell would have minded in the least," I whispered back mischievously.

"No, he probably would have advised me upon the latest style in kissing my wife." Dicky retorted, and then we were in the elevator. I do not know what Dicky was thinking, but my heart was singing absurdly with joy as it always does when Dicky plays the royal lover role which he can enact so well.

We went to the Underwood apartment first, but only Harry was there, stretched out comfortably upon a couch and smoking. He started to rise as I entered, but I put out a protesting hand.

"Please don't!" I said. "You look so comfortable. Where are Lillian and Mary?"

"In your apartment," he returned, "and thank you, for you sure are one understanding female. Come over here, Dickybird, and perch yourself on that other tree, otherwise the chaise lounge, for we'll have time for several smokes before our wimmen' folks get through chattering."

"Don't you be too sure of that," I adjured him as I went out of the door. "We're pretty sleepy, you know."

I made no answer, for I had none. I knew that he was speaking from knowledge and experience, and I was still smiling ruefully at his prescience as I came into my own living room to find Lillian lounging comfortably and Mary sitting tensely erect, evidently waiting for me.

"Auntie Madge," she exclaimed as soon as I came in. "I thought you never would come! I've been simply dying to find out how you knew about Noel coming to the party. Or is he coming? Were you talking simply for his father's benefit? How can he come in to the city? He isn't well enough."

"One at a time, Mary, please," I said. "Now, categorically, I know Noel is coming to the party because I telephoned him and told him to. I was talking for his father's benefit, because I wanted him to know that Noel is to be present. And Noel can come into the city without any risk to his health. Mrs. Bickett assures me that he is perfectly able to attend this party, that all he needs is to be taken out of himself."

"Well," Lillian interposed dryly, "with his father looking on, a young movie star playing the devoted admirer, and two cadets as extra men for good measure at this dance, Noel ought to be taken out of himself. He won't have time to think of anything but the number of dances with Mary he can salvage."

"Oh! I'm so glad he's well enough to come to the party!" Mary exclaimed joyously. And then, relieving my fear that she was too much in love with Noel to take a girl's normal outlook on life, she asked naively:

"What did you mean—about cadets?"

The Beauty Box

By HELEN FOLLETT

Eyebrows are extending themselves lengthwise, so never pluck a single hair of those that point toward the temples. If the eyebrow pencil is used, it should not trickle on beyond the line of the hirsute growth because it is detected. People are outgrowing the idea that makeup is not only to be seen but is to dizzify the public eye. They're soft pedaling on eye shadows, too.

Out door exercise not only paints the cheeks with natural blushes, but it is a creator of energy. It helps the human machine to make repairs because it accelerates lazy blood streams which more actively distribute groceries to the cells and tissues, and which at the same time pick up poisonous wastes, of which the system must rid itself. Youth runs and romps and stays rosy. Adults should keep on romping. That woman who is muscularly active never takes on the mealbag shape or loses the snap and vigor of good posture.

Choose carefully your toothbrush and dentrifice. A gritty powder can do damage to the gums and there is such a thing as having a brush with bristles too firm, especially if the gums are tender. After each brushing, give the gums a two-minute massage. Swishing a mouth wash between the teeth will remove particles of foreign substances that the brush may have not dislodged. Mind that teeth are brushed at bed time.

Supplicants for beauty rewards who hitch their hopes to cold cream and other magic potions of the toilet table had better add daily hygiene to their what-to-do notations. Cosmetics play an important part in a girl's appearance, but they are not the whole pulchritude program. That a high standard of health brings clearness and color to the skin, starshine to the eyes, endurance to the teeth, thickness and gloss to the hair is an accepted idea.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Thursday, December 11

A very lively and eventful day is the presage based on the interesting lunar and mutual configurations of the ruling planets. With the mysterious and intriguing planet Neptune in active operation, assisted by the convertible Mercury also—strong lunar aspect, the novel, strange and unique may be anticipated. New projects and contracts are in order, but there are signs of small anxieties, sudden changes and financial perils to be considered. Also some duplicity.

Those whose birthday it is are confronted by an intriguing year in which the erratic, peculiar or unusual may occur, with new undertakings of a singular or subtle nature, and possibly in connection with combines or secret societies. There may be small anxieties and tests and the finances may give concern.

A child born on this day should be versatile and shrewd and may incline to secret and subtle ways of attaining its ends. It may be literary and mystical.

Worn Sheets

When large sheets become worn in the middle, tear them in halves and sew the two selvedges together. Trim the torn edges and hem on the machine. You will get many more months' wear out of the sheets.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

The Servantless Household

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

When one is having friends for dinner, and has no help, what should be done about the dishes? Should the hostess wash the dishes while the guests are still there, or should she just close the dining room, making some excuse, and wait until the guests have departed? Should a guest ever say anything like this? "Let us wash the dishes so I can help you" or "Wash the dishes so I can help you" or any similar saying?

GRACE.

It is much better form, and more comfortable for all concerned, for the hostess to be most casual about the dishes—indeed, to give the impression that there just isn't such a thing as dish-washing. She should reduce the minutes between the leaving of the table and her rejoining her guests to the lowest common demoninator, make them as few as possible. She should show no fussiness, no worry about the dishwashing, no agitation about how they are to be done.

A guest, if she sees that the servantless hostess is going to be agitated about washing the dishes, naturally graciously offers to help the hostess in washing the dishes. But if the hostess is as casual as I urge her to be, and hope that she will be, the guest takes her cue from this "carefully careless" attitude of the hostess and doesn't insist.

Accepting a Fraternity Pin

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Does it really mean anything serious when a young man wants a young lady to wear his fraternity pin? This young man belongs to a fraternity that gives two pins exactly alike. When he wishes a girl to wear one, it means that she is engaged to him, or "obliged" in a serious manner?

WONDERING.

The giving of a fraternity pin does not mean anything special unless, when the pin is given the man and girl decide together that it does have a "special meaning." Fraternity pins are given rather indiscriminately nowadays—perhaps this is indicated by the fact that the fraternity gives two pins to its members!—and a girl should not attach any special sentimental significance to it, unless that significance is really made clear. A diamond ring isn't always an engagement ring, you know!

A Privilege of the Hostess

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I have asked a young man to accompany me to a sorority dance. Is it proper for me to pay for the bids, or is it his place to pay for them?

ANXIOUS.

WE NOW PRESENT

By DARRELL V. MARTIN, Radio Editor.

Percy Grainger's final radio concert before going on a tour of the United States takes place over WCAE at 8:30 tonight. His delightful "Country Gardens" and personal interpretation of Tschaikowsky's "Waltz of the Flowers" are always well received.

* * *

Capt. Frank M. Hawks, aviation's speed king, glides into WEAF studios at 10:30 to answer Grantland Rice's questions.

* * *

One of our pastimes is selecting a number that looks to us like the evening's winner. Tonight it is the Polonaise from "Mignon," to be sung by Olive Palmer on WCAE's 9:30 presentation. The Polonaise is the prized aria of every coloratura soprano.

* * *

Picking yards of old rags, collar buttons, socks and other wearing paraphernalia from the horns of orchestra players at WCAE during rehearsals has always amused Tampa, the magician, and his startled victims.

* * *

But Tampa promises to be good tonight at 8 o'clock when he makes his debut as an evening entertainer.

* * *

QUESTION A DAY:

You said, the other day, that visitors are barred from KDKA studios. Why is this?—V. L.

Answer—This statement was misunderstood by many readers. Visitors are welcome at the William Penn studios at all times, but they are not permitted in the studios during a broadcast. Seats are provided outside the studios so that visitors may watch the artists in action. Some artists are very temperamental, others are easily distracted in their work, hence the new ruling to bar newspaper men, station executives and everyone but the announcer from the studio when a broadcast is in progress.

"M. C. M." APOLOGY

A letter from M. C. M., East End, is self-explanatory:

Dear Mr. Martin:

I noted with interest your comment in Sunday's issue of my favorite newspaper, on my letter anent the "Sacred Song" program and its sponsor.

I apologize for my bombastic attempt at humor which you answered very well. The Sponsor's altruism is unquestioned, as is your sincerity. I heartily concur with you in your championship of the Sponsor.

* * *

We accept your apology, M. C. M.—and thanx heaps for the flowers!

* * *

"BY THE WAY—"

Marconi, inventor of radio, speaks via phonograph in the KDKA World Tour at 10:30 tonight . . . a few weeks ago a Braddock listener heard Constantinople in this series and thought he had DX . . . Art Gillham has added a 1:15 afternoon broadcast to his WJAS schedule.

* * *

Knute Rockne is to assist Ted Husing in the CBS broadcast of the Army-Navy game this Saturday at 12:15.

* * *

TODAY'S TID-BIT:

There is a Santa Claus! Last night Andy had the blues over Mme. Queen's "S-Andy Claus" letter, in which she repeated last year's request for a fur coat. KDKA this morning received a 4x6 deer skin fur to be forwarded to poor Andy.

For Normal Girlhood

"My daughter Magdalen did not seem to develop as she should. At times she had no pep at all and couldn't get her school work very easily. For four years we doctored her off and on. Then a friend told us how much Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had helped her year ago, so I got a bottle for Magdalen. Her nerves are quieting, her general health is better and she is now as normal as other girls."—Mrs. I. Bartholdi, Thompson's Addition, The Dalles, Oregon.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound
Lydia E. Pinkham Med. Co., Lynn, Mass.

The Loudspeaker -:- By LOUIS REID

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—The radio sponsor of Weber and Fields nearly died of heart failure during the first microphone rehearsal of the old-time comedians. They read their lines in a deadly monotone, and the sponsor thought, as he expresses it, that he had bought a pair of lemons instead of what now proves to be one of the best-liked acts on the air.

* * *

When Weber and Fields began acting in their adolescent days they did it, they will tell you, with a brick wall of Hester street as their audience. Years later and after they had become famous they visualized the same wall, no matter how smart the audience happened to be. Both agree that it is still firmly planted in their memory.

The comedians had their first microphone experience several years ago in the old Waldorf tower. On the same program were Mary Garden, Guiseppe De Luca, Will Rogers and Goldman's Band. Weber tells of it.

* * *

"The moment we stepped in front of the microphone it turned into that Hester street brick wall. We forgot the audience, just as we do on the stage. In any crowd there is bound to be some interesting faces. Subconsciously, one singles them out. One gets to wondering what they think, too. It detracts from one's best efforts."

Weber and Fields Enjoy Radio Work

That brick wall still serves its purpose every Monday night at WOR. There is considerable temptation, however, the comedians say, to let their minds slip to thoughts of their unseen audience and to how their jokes are being received.

They find that radio work is little different than that of the stage. In radio, Weber and Fields try to make their lines stronger to compensate for the loss of gestures and mugging. And, says Weber,

"To that extent radio is harder . . . Proper emphasis on key words and phrases means considerably more on the air, where pantomime has no place . . . This is especially true when the script murders the English language."

Weber said he was short of time. And prompted thereby a typical piece of gagging. Fields inquired:

"Why don't you see Judge Rosalsky? He'll give you plenty of time—five, ten, fifty years if you want it."

MARKET SAGS NEAR LOW OF NOVEMBER

Stock Prices Give Under Steady Selling After Rising in First Hour

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—(AP.)—The stock market flirted today with the three-year low level recorded just one month ago.

After pushing up a little during the first hour, the list gave way under persistent selling, and by early afternoon losses of 2 to 5 points were numerous. The rails having already broken the average price of 20 issues, to record the lowest level since May, 1926, moved still lower, and a handful of industrials and utilities penetrated below the bottom prices of a month ago.

Failure of the copper producers to maintain their recent advance in the price of the metal to 12 cents a pound, was an unsettling development offsetting favorable news from the steel industry. Bethlehem Steel, Westinghouse Electric, Johns Manville, Illinois Central, St. Louis Southwestern, New Haven Railroad, International Harvester, Eastman Kodak and American and Foreign Power sold off 2 to 5 points to new bottom prices.

The weekly steel trade reviews sounded an optimistic note, and the United States Steel Corporation reported an increase in its unfilled orders during November of 157,873 tons.

Dividend news included some bright spots. Despite some rumors to the contrary, New York Central declared its regular quarterly payment of $2 a share. American Water Works placed its shares on a $3 annual cash basis. Checker Cab, however, reduced its annual dividend basis from $4.20 to $1.80.

Freight car loadings for the week ended November 29, which included the Thanksgiving Day holiday, showed a loss from the previous week of 77,672 cars. This was less than the normal seasonal decline for that week. Declines from the like weeks of 1929 and 1928, nevertheless, were 16 and 22 per cent, respectively. The decline from the like week of 1928 was close to the widest of the year.

The weakness in silver was another cheerless aspect of the nonferrous metal situation. Weekly petroleum statistics showed another substantial cut in crude production, but an increase in gasoline stocks.

Call money was firm at 2 per cent. There was no concession in the outside market, where limited funds were offered yesterday at 1½ per cent.

Newton Steel Drops Plan for Merger

Negotiations for a merger of Newton Steel Company, of Youngstown, and Corrigan-McKinney Steel Company, of Cleveland, have been dropped temporarily, due to the decline in security prices and in steel industry operations.

IRON AGE SEES UPTURN NEAR

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—The Iron Age in its weekly summary of the iron and steel trade tomorrow will say:

The week's developments in iron and steel have been preponderantly favorable and the industry, although chastened by repeated disappointments during the year, has gained confidence. While steel ingot output in November declined to the lowest level since July, 1924, and some further recession this month seems inevitable, there has been a gradual gain in demand for forward delivery, strengthening expectations of an upturn in production early next year.

Trading Volume Declines In Featureless Market; Steel Spring Sells Lower

COPPER PRICE REDUCED

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—The price of copper has been reduced to 11 cents a pound, delivered, by producers, the level at which custom smelters have been selling. Domestic fabricators also have lowered their price on copper and brass products to the equivalent of 11 cents a pound for copper.

Producers are staying out of the market as they are sold ahead sufficiently to cover requirements of domestic fabricators for the next five months and foreign consumers for around two and one-half months.

LONDON, Dec. 10.—Copper Exporters, Inc., has reduced the price of copper 1 cent a pound to 11.30 cents, c. i. f. Hamburg, London and Havre.

Brokerage Receivers Take Over Shares

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—The receivers for Prince & Whitely, bankrupt stock brokerage firm, have taken over the 26,800 shares of Atlas Stores Corporation common stock and 55,500 shares of Hahn Department Stores, Inc., common, which have been advertised for sale at public auction in recent weeks.

Avoid Investment Losses

Booklet "The Voluntary Trust" mailed upon request.

MANY fortunes were swept away during the recent financial upheaval because supposed safe investments were entirely speculative. Those who had the forethought to safeguard their estates by the creation of trusts were saved severe monetary loss as well as the distress suffered by others because their investments were the result of long and conservative banking experience.

Our Trust Officers will be glad to explain the various forms of trusts suited to each special need.

We welcome the opportunity to serve you.

Armco Gets Recognition Of Its Patents

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

WITH THE LICENSING of the Inland Steel Company to use patents for the continuous rolling of sheet steel the American Rolling Mill Company has completed the task of securing recognition of its dominant position in this field.

The development of the company's process has occupied the greater part of the past decade. The company first completed its own mills for the production of the new product about five years ago. This was followed by the installation of similar equipment by other companies. During the past three years American Rolling Mill has been making steady progress in convincing these other producers that it is entitled to royalties for the use of the process.

Up to the present time licenses have been issued to Great Lakes Steel Corporation, Gulf States Steel Company, Otis Steel Company, Weirton Steel Company, Wheeling Steel Corporation, Republic Steel Corporation, United States Steel Corporation and Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company. This covers practically all the companies using mills similar to those developed by American Rolling Mill.

Large Market for Product

BEFORE THE PERFECTION of the process for the continuous rolling of sheets, production of this type of steel required a far greater amount of highly skilled labor and was carried out at a higher cost. Under the old method, sheet bars were heated in small furnaces. They were then fed by hand into small mills until the maximum reduction in size was obtained. To further roll the sheets, the material was doubled, reheated and rerolled until the desired gage was secured. After the completion of this operation, the sheets had to be trimmed and pulled apart.

The continuous mills roll the steel directly from the ingot down to the desired thickness. No doubling or reheating is necessary. The large savings in costs are obvious.

Complete Adoption Secured

THE TAKING OUT of licenses by so many companies represents the most complete adoption of a new process of manufacture by any one branch of the steel industry since the development of Bessemer steel.

While the details of the licensing arrangements have not been made public, it is understood that American Rolling Mill will get a very substantial amount for every ton of continuous strips rolled by the licensed companies. This income will be particularly important when the automobile business revives since that industry is one of the largest consumers of this type of sheets.

Goodyear Head Sees 1931 As Turning Point

By B. C. FORBES

AKRON, O., Dec. 10.—Here in Akron there is one company which uses one-fifth of all the rubber produced in the world. It also makes 30 of every 100 tires manufactured in the United States. It has made, all told, 175,000,000 tires.

Mr. Forbes

How does the head of this mammoth enterprise feel about rubber conditions and prospects?

"Next year will probably see the rubber industry on the up-grade. Our inventories are now at the low point. On December 1 we started all our five textile mills, in Georgia and New England, running night and day, at full capacity, for the first time in more than six months.

"Our tires factories will all increase production 30 per cent on January 1, and will probably increase still further during the following five months.

"Our forecast of the industry's production next year is 60,000,000 tires. The 1930 total is approximately 55,000,000.

"Notwithstanding all that the rubber industry has gone through during recent years, Goodyear has been able to earn better than an average of 9 per cent on its investment during the last five years."

GOODRICH HAS benefited by its extraordinary wide diversity of rubber products. It turns out some 32,000 different kinds of rubber articles.

President Tew is a philosopher. Instead of spending endless time whining about national depression, he declares that most of us were having things too easy and needed an adversity tonic. He sums up the situation thus:

"For several years past, things have been too easy for us, and 1930 has brought to us a better sense of values and fuller realization that courage, energy and imagination are vital to our successful emergence from present unsatisfactory conditions to better times."

WILLIAM O'NEIL, president of the outstandingly successful General Rubber Company; Harvey H. Firestone and F. A. Seiberling, veteran heads of their own enterprises, all were kind enough to express approval of my advice to the rubber industry's leaders to get together for the purpose of establishing more stable and profitable conditions. However, the more one digs into the "innards" of the industry and the human factors, the greater the number of obstacles encountered. Bluntly, I cannot but feel that personalities are being placed ahead of sound principles.

BUT, AS I see it, unless the leaders can sink their differences and agree upon a larger measure of co-operation, the industry is little likely to attain the profit and prosperity which should be its right.

TIGER HEART -:- By Robert Terry Shannon

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

On the eve of her marriage to handsome Jim Tracey, vivacious Connie Calvert, rich society girl, receives a letter which causes her to leave her palatial home in Connecticut on a mysterious automobile drive to New York. Jim sees her. Connie stops at a cheap restaurant on the West Side and waits for someone. The letter threatens to expose Connie. A man approaches Connie and introduces himself as Duke Garson. He tells Connie her late father was married twice and that she has a half-sister, Kitty, living in poverty among gangsters. Connie asks to meet her.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER V.

Connie detected, faintly, a sneer in his voice, but that didn't matter. She was stunned, hurt. Never before had her family pride been violated. A swirl of emotion tore in her breast—a hot, furious anger that was muffled by sharp humiliation. Too, there was a startling, living flame of sympathy for the other girl.

The idea that she had a sister was unbelievable; it repelled and fascinated her simultaneously.

The most disconcerting thing was this new, primitive call of blood to blood—the poignant necessity of seeing, at once, this girl who was flesh of her own flesh.

"Bring her here—let me see her—let me talk to her—"

Connie Studies Girl

Connie was startled at her own eagerness. Ever so slightly, her poise was beginning to tremble.

"You'll find," Duke Garson said, "that Kitty has a different slant on life than you have. You might as well get ready for a jolt."

The girl advanced, sinuous and confident, opposite Connie. She stopped and looked down with one side of her mouth drawn to a quirk. A thousand times Connie had seen that same quirk on her father's mouth.

This was no mistake—no swindle! Connie could feel her own heart beating rapidly. The eyes, the brow of this strange girl were the eyes and brow of her own dead father. The whole sensation was ghastly.

"Well, sister," Kitty said, in a sardonic rasp, "how's tricks?"

For a second Connie could not speak. She was looking, not at a strange girl, but at a slightly altered picture of her own self; this girl . . . it was the effect of a hurried glance in a mirror . . . the similarity was uncanny.

"Sit down, please," Connie said, in a disturbed voice.

"Sure," said the other, nonchalantly.

Duke Garson, too, took a chair. Now at close range, Connie growing steadier, could see that the other bore unmistakable traces of her own blood strain. Those blue eyes and black brows were, without doubt, a heritage from her Irish mother, the Cunningham woman. Kitty's hair was jet black. Her nose had the slightest tilt; she was, in a vague way, rather pretty. Pretty, but hard. Together they were both striking in appearance, similar in resemblance, yet individually unlike.

Doesn't Want Sympathy

"I suppose Duke spilled the works to you," Kitty said.

Connie nodded. "He told me—yes."

"Did it interest you any?"

"Very much."

"How does the whole business strike you?"

The girl laughed harshly. "Yeah—it's pretty awful for you, ain't it? I suppose you feel disgraced as hell to find that your old man left you a sister and forgot to mention it before he kicked off. It wouldn't sound so good to your society friends, would it?

"I wasn't thinking of my friends," Connie said, quietly. "I was thinking how awful it must have been for you."

"Yeah? It's a wonder you don't try to claim that it's a frame-up. I thought I might have a little trouble convincing you that I really am your sister."

"I know you are," Connie responded. "You look like my father and you look like me. Yes, it's all true—my instinct tells me it is."

"Well, that saves time. If you want it made legal, I will gladly produce the proofs whenever you say."

"I can't help what you must have endured all these years." Connie's voice stopped, trembling.

"Yes—all the sympathy in the world."

Again the quirk that reminded Connie so much of her father came to Kitty's lips. But there was bitterness in the grimace, humor.

"Well, Kid, you can let your sympathy run for Sweeney. I don't deal in that stuff. Your father gave you all the best of it—I got all the worst of it."

"But if you knew all this," Connie protested, "I can't imagine why you kept silent so long."

Wants Money

Kitty shrugged. "Maybe I had a little pride myself, or maybe I was just dumb. When I saw your picture on the society page and read about the swell marriage you're pulling off, it got my goat, that's all. But don't think I want anything as cheap as your sympathy. Do you want me to tell what I'm after?"

"Please do."

"All right—I want money, jack, dough! I want a lot of it. That big house you live in up there in Connecticut, the money you got in the bank, even the clothes on your back . . . they are as much mine as they are yours. We had the same father, and I'm just as legitimate as you are. Whenever you get ready to talk business to me, you have to say it with bank notes."

The blue eyes across the table were hot with dislike, and a burning sense of injustice. Just slightly, the flanges of the girl's nostrils dilated in passion. Connie felt herself grow cold and firm.

"Your sister," he said, "has all the proof, Miss Calvert. She can take her case into court and prove it. You would be forced to make a settlement. Not only that, she could humiliate you and disgrace you by exposing this scandal in the newspapers. If she wanted to, she could crash the gate at your wedding and make a scene. Remember she looks so much like you that everybody would believe her. Besides all that, you must think how this exposure would wreck your mother's happiness. If Kitty here wants to, she could stain your whole family with dishonor. You see, it is useless for you to try to dictate to her."

DAILY TRUE STORY 'Step-Sisters'

"You are tired," Joe Manz said, "you ought to lay off and rest."

Some booking agents were human. Joe was one of them human ones, as Estrelda knew quite well. Joe looked up at her, suddenly, and smiled reassuringly.

"Considering the times and the condition of vaudeville, you have been doing mighty well, Mattie."

"I know that, Joe—thanks to you."

"What I mean is, that you need a rest—it will help you pep up your act."

Martha Higgins sat down and rested her elbows on Joe's desk. She looked him straight in the eyes.

"Meaning," she said, quietly, and with an effort to keep the note of anxiety out of her voice, "that the old dance isn't what it used to be."

"The old dance is all right—"

Joe Manz bit his lip then. He had said the wrong thing and realized it.

Martha Higgins nodded slowly.

"I've got the little bungalow out at Seaport—never used it myself since my mother died. You might run out there for a while."

"Joe Manz, are you trying to stake me?"

"Not at all," he assured her, hurriedly. "I merely want you to rest so you can pep up your act—it is getting difficult to get bookings, and all because you are too tired to put it over the way you used to do. Run out to the little bungalow and think of just one thing—that you are only 20 and will soon be back showing them that Estrelda is still the top-notch little solo dancer."

Martha Higgins slowly shook her head.

Reviews Situation

Martha Higgins got up suddenly and went to the window. She stared out across the court to the brick walls, without seeing.

Joe Manz got up and went over to her.

Joe watched her depart. He feared she would go to her dingy little "third floor back" and indulge in more tears. He wished he had possessed the courage to ask her to marry him. Joe had always wanted to marry Martha Higgins, ever since her husband died, but he never seemed to get the courage.

He went over the situation again, as he had done many times. She had reason for these spells of depression. At the time her husband died Martha had to carry on. Her husband's mother wanted to take care of the baby and Martha had agreed. Those were the days when bookings were bookings, 40 weeks, clear to the coast and back. It was during one of these tours that Mrs. Higgins, her late husband's mother, had ceased to write. When Martha got back there was no trace of her—she had gone away with Martha's baby.

This day Joe Manz was mistaken about Martha going to her dingy room for more weeps. Something in Joe's quiet, hopeful manner, made Martha determined to do as Joe suggested, go down to his country bungalow and rest. She would study new costumes and try to work out something original in her dance routine and come back and show Joe she was the same vivacious little Estrelda."

At one of the big department stores Martha tried to take a short cut across on a top floor and found herself in the big "rest room" where the clerks could eat their lunches, read, listen to the radio and get a bit of recreation during their 45 minutes off.

Girl Discharged

Over in a corner near a small radio were several girls gathered about as one of their number danced. The little dancer seemed oblivious of everyone and everything. Martha choked back tears as she watched her, for it seemed only yesterday when Martha had the same youth and vivacity. With training the little girl would be a wonder. Martha could see that.

A bell on the wall sounded. Most of the girls glanced up and hurried out. The radio music continued and the little girl continued to dance. A man stepped in and glanced around. He wore a frock coat and a rather grim expression. He crossed to the little dancer and stopped her.

"Seeing that you had rather dance than work for us, Miss Carter," he said, "you may get your money at the office and continue with your dancing—elsewhere."

It was then that more than sympathy flooded Martha's mind. She had an idea. She had always done a "single," said she would never work with anyone, but that was when she was younger. Her act needed youth. If she couldn't provide it, why not get youth in the person of a partner?

"Look here, little girl, hadn't you rather dance on the stage than up and down behind a counter?" Martha smiled at her as she spoke.

"Who wouldn't?"

"I'm going to the country for a few weeks' rest. If your folks will let you come out with me, I'll train you and we'll get booking together."

"Who are you?"

"Estrelda—ever hear of me?"

"I'm sorry, but I never get to see shows—but if you mean what you say, gee, I'll go with you."

"Haven't any. Mother died some years ago."

"Try and stop me!"

The next day they rehearsed. Martha Higgins found her youth and vivacity returning as her interest grew in teaching Lily the many things she didn't know about dancing.

Martha had made their costumes—she was talented at this. After Joe had eaten the dinner Martha and Lily prepared, he waited them to come down in costume and do their stuff.

"You've just got time to make the train for Detroit. Luigi's night club is changing the bill. You'll last three weeks there and by that time I'll have plenty of booking for you—get busy and pack," he said.

The act went well at Luigi's in Detroit. Then they did a big picture house circuit that took them to Chicago and back.

In New York Lily said, "Now I can get my trunk out of hock—I didn't have enough to pay up for my room when I left."

The trunk was sent over to the comfortable rooms Martha had taken. Lily Carter began unpacking it.

Marries Manz

"Darling," she said, "how did you get the name of Carter?"

"Mother told me she was married twice. I can remember Mr. Carter. He used to curse me and tell me I was no child of his—he got killed in some way. I was too young to know how. Mother only died a year ago."

"Baby," she said, "she wasn't your mother—she was your grandmother."

If you didn't see the clever "Step-Sisters" act last year, that's just too bad. You won't see it now, because the great Estralda is married to Joe Manz and Lily is going to a private school.

There is some party issuing out the statement that "Owen Bandy is planning to leave the county and going South for the winter." My task is hard enough without some narrow-minded party interfering with such untrue statements.

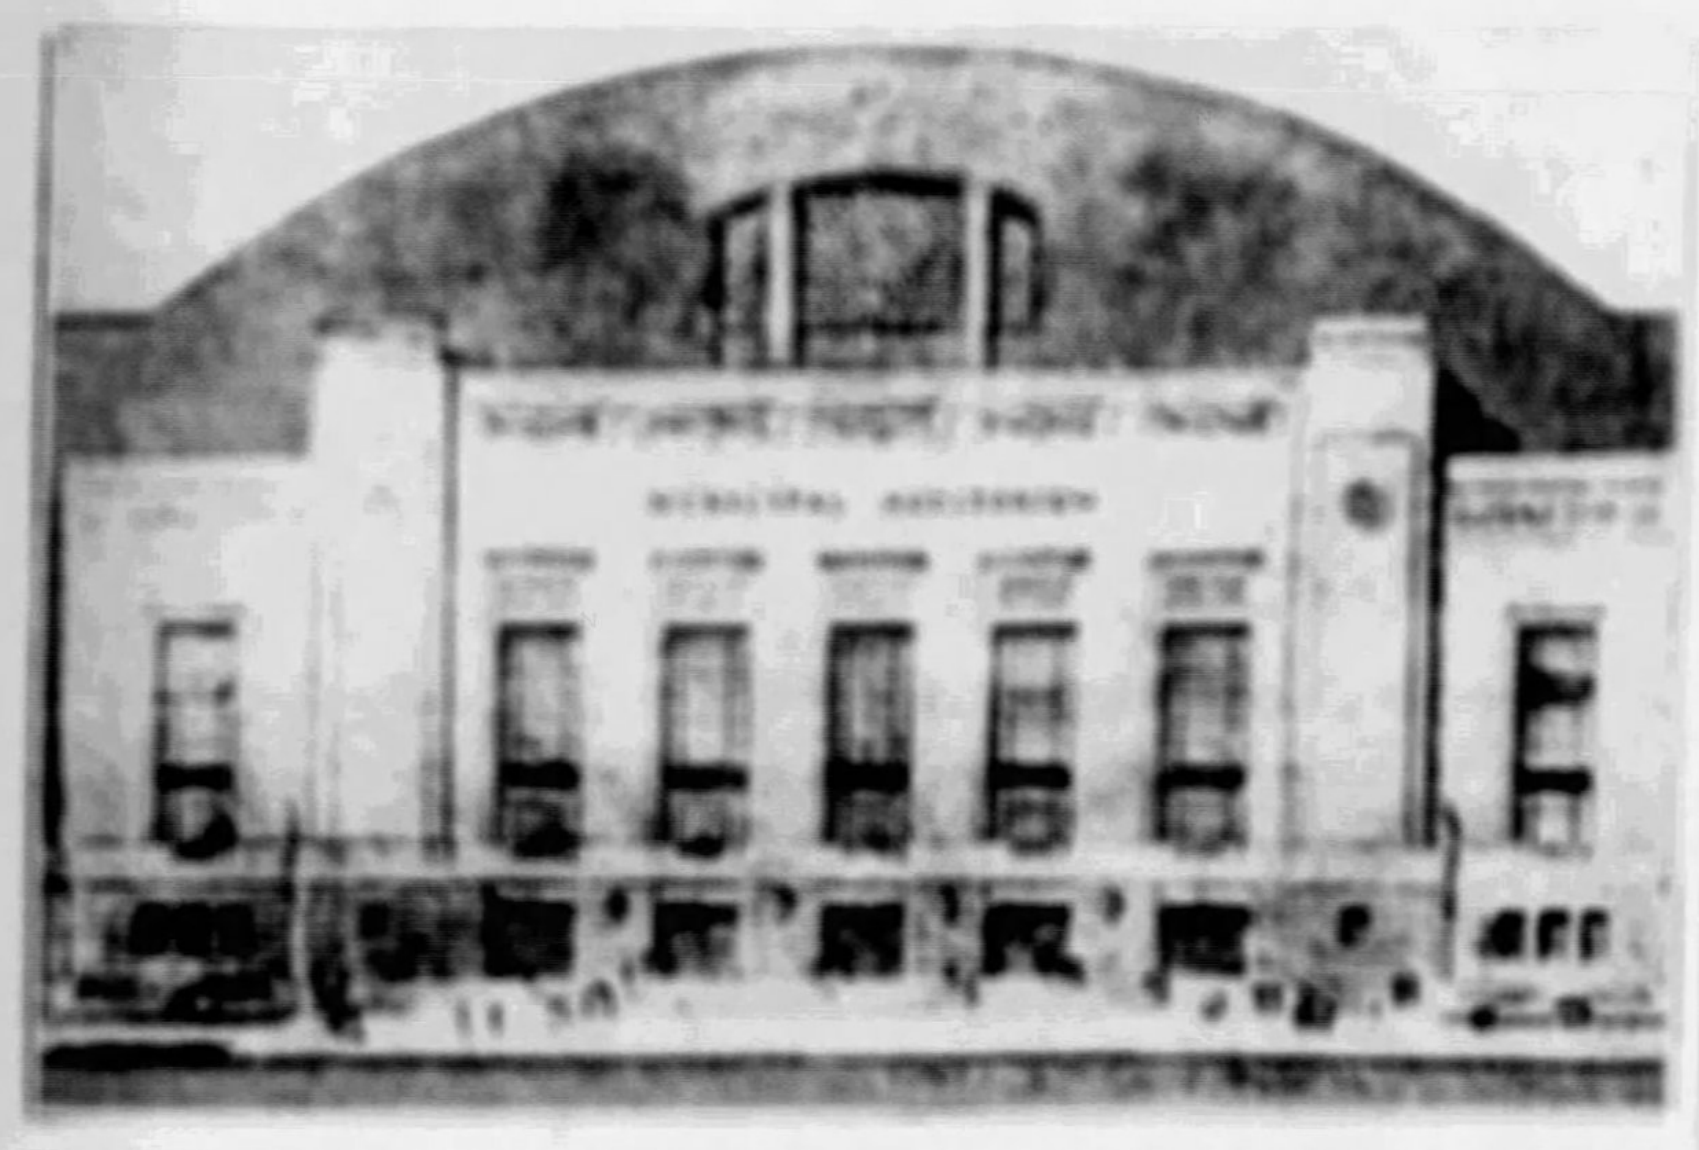
Tables Are Turned

Philadelphia Can Now Laugh at Pittsburgh for Being Slow In the Construction of a Town Hall.



THE NEW PHILADELPHIA TOWN HALL.

It is now Philadelphia's turn to laugh at us for being slow.

While our County Commissioners have dawdled over the construction of the Town Hall, not having even picked the site as yet, Philadelphia has started its municipal auditorium and expects the main assembly rooms to be ready for occupancy by spring.

Our Town Hall is to cost $6,000,000 and should seat at least 15,000.

The Philadelphia auditorium is to cost $5,000,000 and to seat 14,000.

So the comparison between the two projects is fair.

Philadelphia has undertaken a public work almost as great as that which the citizens of Allegheny County authorized, and has construction well under way.

The blame lies, however, not on the citizens but on the County Commissioners. Pittsburgh is not so slow. The Commissioners are delaying against the citizens' will and over the protest of the leading civic and trade organizations.

Proper Policy

The Interstate Commerce Commission and the Pennsylvania Public Service Commission both are considering problems involving the vested rights of existing public utilities.

The fundamental principles underlying this problem of regulation are set forth in an exceptionally clear manner in an article written for the Wall Street Journal by Thomas F. Woodlock, who recently brought to a close a long period of service on the Interstate Commerce Commission. Woodlock said:

"The public is entitled to any and all forms of transportation which can justify themselves on the grounds of efficiency and economy. It is not required to support any form which cannot justify itself in this way. To the extent that any existing form of transportation may prove to be either wholly or in part uneconomical, inefficient or unnecessary, it is the misfortune of those who have embarked their capital therein and not the fault of either the public or of those who provide more economical and efficient means of rendering the service.

Proposed Legislation

The State Chamber of Commerce Has Rendered a Service In Disclosing Its Attitude on Various Matters.

Robert Haight, manager of the Legislative Bureau of the Pennsylvania State Chamber of Commerce, rendered a public service in his address at a businessmen's conference here yesterday by indicating what bills, to be introduced in the Legislature at the forthcoming session, the Chamber considers most important, and how it regards them. There will be decided differences of opinion on nearly all of the matters enumerated below.

The Chamber will oppose any additional forms of taxation on the ground that the present revenue laws, if efficiently administered, will bring in enough money.

It opposes changes in the workmen's compensation law which would add to the financial burden of employers.

It is opposed to the proposed garnishee law under which employers would be required to turn over part of their employes' wages to the employes' creditors.

It is opposed to the stream pollution law advocated by the Izaak Walton League.

These things, which the State Chamber informs us are to be considered by the Legislature, are of importance not only to businessmen but to all the people.

Dear Sir:

It is foolish to say that prohibition has not benefited any large class of people.

Everybody is on a liquid diet or a vegetable diet or a bland diet. No matter how gaily a dinner party begins, it always ends in a CLINIC—with all the guests comparing symptoms and diet lists and blood pressures.

* * *

Thus have synthetic gin, homebrew, Maryland rye, "swamp rum," needled beer, "jake," imitation Scotch and the more palatable varieties of hair tonics dealt a solar-plexus blow to the finest digestive organ in the world.

STARS AND NEBULAE

By Archibald Henderson

Many studies and investigations have been made, especially in very recent years, to learn more about the stars. A capital problem is concerned with the brightness of the stars, to distinguish between apparent and absolute luminosity, and to judge the size and distance from us of stars by means of luminosity.

Absolute luminosity may be associated with the mass of a star, on the general assumption, which seems quite reasonable, that stars of the same spectro type, surface for surface, have the same degree of brightness.

A further problem concerns itself with the number of stars in our galactic system. Take a very small portion of the Milky Way, make a greatly magnified photograph of it, and then endeavor to count the number of stars on the photographic plate. This will give you perhaps as good an idea as can be derived in any way, as to the appaling number of stars that are to be found in our galactic system.

Various estimates have been made, and in a number of different ways. Unfortunately, the results vary so widely as to cause us to question the accuracy or suitability of the methods employed. For example, Shapley estimates the number of stars to be about 100 billion. Whereas Eddington, working from a different point of view, arrives at a figure three times that reached by Shapley.

It is not easy to arrive at any intelligent comprehension of what we mean by hundreds of billions. To put this concretely is a puzzling task. In his "The Great Astronomers," Williams makes the following attempts to enable us to visualize such a huge number.

Suppose, he says, that each star of the 100 billion in the galaxy were reduced in size to the mere needle-point it seems—say to the size of a period on this printed page.

If, then, the 100 billion periods could be distributed single file, one after another in close contact, the line of periods would suffice to reach round the globe at the equator. If you try to imagine how many of these periods would be required to make a line a mile long, and then imagine 25,000 such lines, you at least realize that we are dealing with a great many periods.

Again, suppose each one of our 100 billion stars to be the size of a silver quarter-dollar, and that the quarters were spread out in a close contact to form a mosaic covering the surface of the ground. There would be enough of the quarters to cover 250 square miles, or a surface of 16 miles square. That would be a great many quarters.

If we suppose each of the quarters magnified to a diameter of nine feet, we should then be able to make a solid mosaic covering the entire surface of the United States.

Finally, if each of our stars had a diameter of 38 feet—the length of a big room—the aggregated supply of such paving stones would put a solid layer over every mile of the land surface of the globe.

Another series of enourmous figures, which the modern astronomer has to deal with, is concerned with those gigantic and excessively remote aggregations of matter known as the spiral nebulae. More than a century ago, the astronomer, Herschel, made a study of these bodies in connection with our galactic system.

Without having at his command the mighty resources of present-day astronomers, Herschel arrived at fundamentally sound conclusions. These have been verified in recent years by a number of the most expert astronomical observers now living.

Herschel gave a correct view of the form of the galactic system, and also was correct in his surmise, based on a comparatively small amount of data, that the nebulae are island universes lying outside and far beyond our system.

Prof. A. E. Fath, of Carleton College, estimates that the number of nebulae within reach of the largest photographic telescopes may be taken provisionally at from one-quarter to one-half million.

Estimates of the distances away from us of some of these nebulae vary from 700,000 light-years to a possible 145,000,000 light years. Light travels at the rate of about one billion feet per second. This would have to be multiplied by the number of seconds in a year to determine the distance which light travels in a year.

How far, then, is 100,000,000 light years, for example? Williams suggests that a cable of fine silk thread, of this length, be wound around the earth at the equator as it rotates. There would be enough of the thread first to make a belt 4,000 miles wide around the entire globe; and further, not one such belt, but one thousand belts!

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

Detective John Kelly knows better now.

The next time he arrests an unfortunate woman, he won't drag the Man into court with her.

It all started with that recent vice-ring expose. Certain underworld leeches were combining with worthless policemen to frame monied mammas, then exact hush money and split the profits. The game went something like this: Word would go around that Mrs. Bessie Brown had a neat wad and would be easy to shake down. Nine times out of 10, Mrs. Bessie was a respectable matron, with no more vice to her than a cup of custard. But a bit bored and silly. The way you get when you're beginning to touch up the roots and wear outsizes. So, when, quite by chance, an ingratiating male scraped up an acquaintance, and suggested a harmless little chat in some Nice, Quiet Place—Well, the best of us go blooey sometimes.

The rest was as easy as taking candy from a kid. No sooner had the fluttering, simpering Mrs. Bessie arrived at the trysting place, than in barged the cops, arrested the terrified lady and were only bought off with great, great reluctance.

Which, when it came out, made plenty of row, particularly among New York's clubwomen and civic leaders. All of which Detective John Kelly—being an earnest young man, took to heart. Reading up, he discovered that under Section 887, Subdivision 4F, of the penal code, the Man in such cases was equally guilty with the woman. So the next time he found it necessary to make such an arrest he brought in the Gentleman Friend with her. And naturally expected recognition of his services.

He got it!

The Gentleman Friend was promptly dismissed and the girl held for Jefferson Market Court.

And the big news in this story isn't the fact that Section 887 was violated, but that there should be such a section at all.

They say we humans are about 30,000,000 years old. And for about 29,999,990 of those years men have played and women have paid. On the theory that what was felony for women was just play for the men. And while boys must be boys, girls mustn't be girls.

Section 887 throws a monkey wrench into this delightful arrangement. We're realizing, at last, that a bad man is exactly on a par with a bad woman. If she is a menace, so is he. If she should be punished as a nuisance, so should the male who maintains that nuisance. Then maybe, in time, we'll begin to get civilization.

Two New Flying Machines

THE FLYING WING

The flying machine above, a giant Junkers monoplane G-38, may have the pleasure of carrying you through the air some day. Machines like it undoubtedly will do so.

The interesting thing about this giant machine is the fact that it is actually working and flying.

It carries freight and passengers in the wings, has four powerful engines. Loaded with 4,000 pounds, it can fly 3,000 miles without coming down for fuel.

THE LARGEST AMPHIBIAN IN THE WORLD.

The flying machine above, which looks something like a bungalow and something like a houseboat, biggest amphibian in the world, is called "The Saro Cloud." This airship, as you see, can land on the water, using the boatlike construction, or it can land on solid earth, using the wheels.

In this flying machine the Prince of Wales flew out to meet the giant Dornier DO-X, floating on the water offshore.

After the young Prince got aboard the big Dornier plane, far the biggest in the world, with 12 engines, he took the controls and flew the Dornier for a while, as he had fl Saro Cloud on the way out.

NEW YORK DAY BY DA

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—An indoor caprice these wintry days is sitting at a window to watch steel workers and riveters on the top floor of a 43-storied building near by. Through binoculars one may follow the dizzy exploits of men who have apparently conquered fear.

They are as sure-footed on a narrow beam spun high in the clouds as a cat on the prairie. In instances they jog along like Mexican peons over a mountain trail. Sometimes they teeter and sway in the swift wind so perilously that a watcher has to turn away.

At times they even grow prankish. This noon a number of them were lunching, their legs dangling in the air. A joker above sloshed them with a bucket of water. The slightest slip would have meant a rush to oblivion but everybody laughed heartily.

One of their casual stunts is to pass each other on a slim beam. They grip shoulders and with a turn, like the quick spin of a waltz, go on their way. A few of them have mascots, a dog or cat, that follow about with the same sureness.

A disaster is costly to contractors. If a steel worker falls, it is the invariable custom for the rest to knock off work for the day. The experts are mostly cigaret smokers but rarely drink. Booze and steeple-jacking do not mix. Buttermilk is the favorite tipple.

The majority of the intrepid artisans are married, devoted family men with highly developed sentimentalities. They know that each day offers the hazard of being their last. Frequently their wives by appointment wave to them from the sidewalks.

As a rule they are farm bred boys who acquired the sturdiness hard work and the life in the open give. Their big task is one of concentration. They train themselves to reject any suggestion of fear or thought of a false step.
